Hunt to retire at end of year

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Wheels are in motion to find a new superintendent for Antioch Community Consolidated District 34, as John Hunt formally announced his intention to retire at the last board of education meeting.

"I wanted to announce my retirement early enough to allow plenty of time to look for a replacement," Hunt said.

Hunt, who was hired in February 2001 to begin July 1 of that same year, said he would retire at the end of the 2004-05 school year.

He said, "The district is in good shape and I feel comfortable leaving it (to whomever will follow). I'm ready to engage some new challenges."

The Bickert Group, the consulting firm used to search out candidates and responsible for Hunt's hire, will be used in the new superintendent search. Consultants Don Gossett and Darrell Dick, former interim superintendents for District 34 prior to Hunt, will lead the search.

"The board was pleased with Bickert and decided to use that group again," Hunt said.

During the last search a focus group that included teachers, support staff, the business community, elected officials, PTO presidents, school administrators, clergy, honor society members, service groups such as the Lions Club, police, fire and librarians was used to profile the ideal candidate.

Hunt, who holds a doctorate degree from the University of Southern Illinois in Carbondale, said he is interested in teaching educational administration at the university level.

Criminal threatens cop

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Frank G. Farella, 40, can add charges of fleeing and eluding, driving while revoked and resisting arrest to his criminal history after sending police on a 24-hour search after threatening one officer's life when stopped for a traffic violation on Aug. 8.

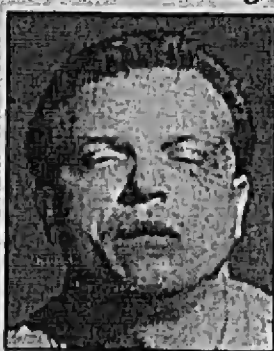

Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville said, "He has a history of violence, assault and weapons charges, and resisting arrest in addition to parole violations with the Department of Corrections and revoked driver's license for DUI."

Somerville said an officer initially tried to stop Farella after witnessing him swerving and crossing the centerline of the road.

"You can't print what he actually said, but he said he would kill the officer," Somerville said. "He then took off at a high rate of speed and was seen reaching for something in the car. The officer followed him for a while, but lost sight of him in traffic."

Somerville said the officer got a very good description of Farella and the car he was driving, and the search for Farella began.

Farella

Chief Chuck Fagan said, "The officer used good judgment and discretion in pursuit of Farella, and stopped things before they escalated."

Somerville said he and officer Rick Moritz began searching the area of Route 83 and Grass Lake Road after a Lake Villa officer reported finding Farella's car abandoned in the area.

"We were able to identify Farella because of the car, and because of the landlord of an apartment he had where he had been living in the area," Somerville said. "Lake County Sheriff's Office helped with surveillance of the apartment."

Somerville said when Farella showed up at about 6 p.m. (Aug. 9), Farella was arrested after a brief struggle. "There were numerous active warrants for his arrest, plus a parole hold," Somerville said.

Civil War-period dress collection captures a bygone era

bbalin@lakelandmedia.com

It was a time when ladies had 16-inch waists, thanks to tightly cinched corsets. It was a time when ladies often fainted, thanks to tightly cinched corsets.

It was a time when ladies kept their complexions pale and delicate by carrying parasols, and they kept the illusion of an equally delicate composure behind decorated fans.

It was the time just before, during and after the Civil War.

Step into Ainsley Wonderling's Lake Villa livingroom, and it is as if stepping back into that time.

Dress mannequins populate the room, wearing long frocks from the 1860s. They appear to be congregating, talking among themselves. They are the stewards of Wonderling's collection of clothing and artifacts of the era.

During weekdays, Wonderling is a physician's assistant at Orchard Medical, in Antioch. At other times, she indulges her passion for the past, working as museum director for the Lakes Region Historical Society. Wonderling, whose family came to the Lake Villa area in 1841, also pursues an active interest in genealogy.

At present, with Lake Villa's big Civil War weekend coming up, one of her particular interests is in the forefront. Samples from her huge collection of Victorian-era clothing are on display in the Lake Villa Village Hall.

Some of the items exhibited include fans, bonnets and a pair of tiny silk bridal slippers worn at the Dec. 5, 1866 wedding of Mary M. Still.

However, Wonderling began her collection not at the feet, but at the head.

"I began by collecting hats and bonnets, about 20 years ago," Wonderling said. Although her collection began with items from World War I, she soon discovered a particular interest in the 1860s. She began to study the subject, and gradually expanded her collection from hats to dresses, shoes, jewelry and other artifacts of the time.

Along the way, she learned about how people lived, and the customs that went with the costumes.

For instance, there were those corsets. "A corset could take five inches or more off a woman's waistline," Wonderling said. The image of Scarlett O'Hara, in "Gone with the Wind," having her Mammy strain to lace her into her corsets was an accurate one. Women would whittle their waists down to 15 or 16 inches.

Wonderling described the layers of clothing that women wore, even on the hottest summer day.

"In the morning, women wore housedresses," she said. After breakfast, the process began.

First, a chemise, a light cotton shift, then, over that, the corset, made with whalebone. "Women wore drawers, but they were open at the crotch," Wonderling said. The closed, mid-calf-length "bloomer" had not yet been invented.

The open design of the drawers was necessary, given how difficult it would be to get through all the layers to answer nature's needs.

Over the chemise, drawers and corset, there was a hoop crinoline, corset cover (like an undershirt) and petticoats. Then, and only then, the dress was worn.

Some dresses had what was called a "Bishop's sleeve," which came only to mid-forearm. Removable "undersleeves" completed the dress.

Although men did not wear quite as many layers, they did not fare better in the summer. Suits were made of wool, and waistcoats

Man arrested for burglarizing neighbors

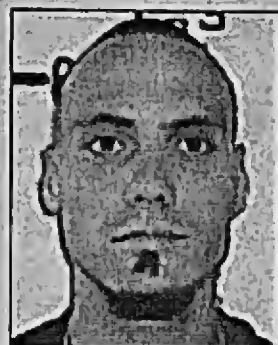

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

John "Johan" R. Strauss, 26, a resident of the apartments on Joanna Court, was arrested for burglarizing two of his fellow residents. The burglaries allegedly took place over a four-week period, with Strauss arrested on Aug. 23.

Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville said between the two apartments, two laptop computers were taken, along with some jewelry and some money.

"Officers canvassed the area for information," he said. "That developed into them finding out about this resident who had a video camera pointing into the parking lot with a feed into his personal computer. He (Strauss) also approached a tenant and tried to sell one of the laptops."

Somerville said once police determined who Strauss was, they were also able to find that he had an active warrant for his arrest for failure to appear on drug charges.

Strauss

"The landlord had been trying to evict him for failure to pay rent, so we used that," Somerville said. "He had the video camera trained on the parking lot so he would be able to watch for police, so the landlord agreed to knock on the door and Detective (Daryl) Youngs and I went around to the back."

Somerville said the Antioch Police Department was able to recover the two laptops that were hidden under Strauss's bed, and hope to recover jewelry from area pawnshops.

"We also located the video that was functioning," Somerville said. "He used this to watch the neighbor leave so he could access the apartment."

Somerville said Strauss was charged with two counts of residential burglary, class 1 felonies punishable by 4-15 years upon conviction. Strauss was transported to the Lake County Jail and has a court date set for Sept. 9.

According to Somerville, Strauss has priors for residential burglary.

ShareFest village to bring host of improvements here

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Come October, the Village of Antioch will become ShareFest Village with projects planned that will eventually extend the boardwalk in the Brook Memorial Wetlands, construct an ice skating rink in that general area and build a warming house for those who use it.

The ShareFest concept was started by four area churches: NorthBridge Church, Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church, Christian Life Fellowship and Antioch Evangelical Free Church to bring resources together, monetary and otherwise, to benefit communities in northern Lake County.

A ribbon cutting ceremony was held earlier in the month unveiling ShareFest's first major project in the Antioch area: to rehabilitate the unused building at the front of the Grass Lake School campus. The benefit to the school and its students is increased classroom space, early childhood learning purposes and housing local student functions such as scouting and 4-H.

Mark Albrecht of NorthBridge Church addressed the board of directors of the Village of Antioch. He said, "The estimate was that this was a quarter-of-a-million-dollar project, but we did it for under $30K because of volunteerism."

Community members are both invited and encouraged to participate in the upcoming projects identified by ShareFest.

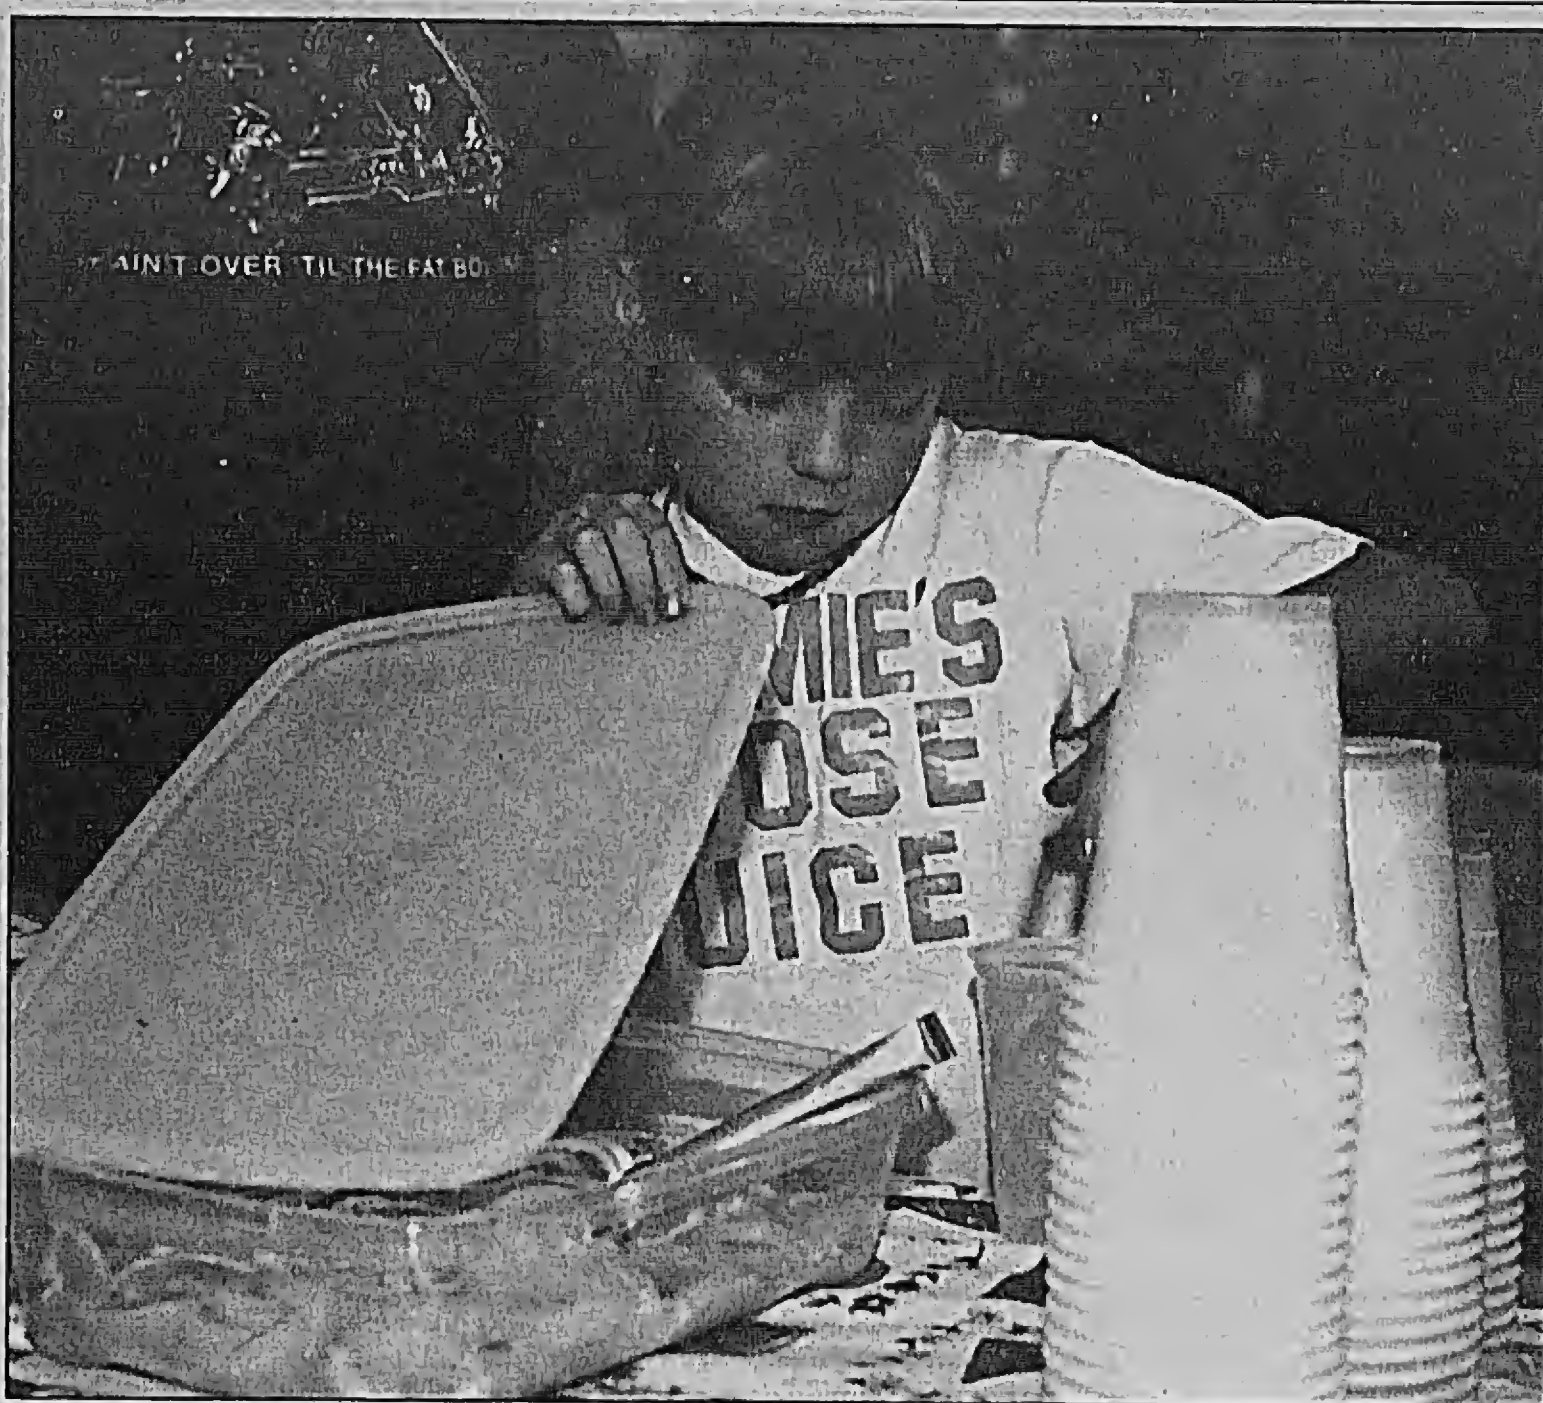

Albrecht said the group of volunteers has already been working at street and creek clean up, and that high school students will wire brush scrape and paint fire hydrants throughout the village.

Additionally, ShareFest is publicizing that it will help winterize seniors' homes.

Applications are available at the Antioch Senior Center, Antioch Township offices, Open Arms Mission (operating out of St. Peter Church), and the four churches that make up the organization.

Plans are currently for the ShareFest Village work/celebration to culminate with food, clothing and blood donations on Oct. 2. All donations will be honored with a free ticket to an outdoor concert in the Band Shell with Grammy-nominated artist Paul Colman, of Australia.

For more information about ShareFest, call Antioch Evangelical Free Church at 847-395-4117, Chain of Lakes Bible Church at 847-838-0103, Christian Life at 847-395-8572 or Northbridge Church at 847-838-0800.

Lionhearted Sammie Scroggin raises money for children in need

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Lionhearted Sammie Scroggin, a 6-year-old first-grader at Hillcrest Elementary has taken it upon herself to sell lemonade at Antioch's FridayFests to raise money to buy Christmas presents for children in the care of the Mooseheart Child City and School, supported by the Moose International.

Sammie's Moose Juice will be for sale at the remaining two FridayFest events for $1 per glass. At the beginning of FridayFest number eight, she had already raised $250 for Christmas presents.

Sammie's parents Jessica and John belong to Antioch Moose Lodge 525, and it was the lodge's philanthropic activities that lit the fire.

"Sammie has heard different conversations about the things the Moose Lodge does, and came up with this idea on her own," Jessica said. "We had to get permission through the lodge and from the village for her to do this, but everyone has been supportive."

Not only has Sammie worked for eight weeks, with two to go, selling her Moose Juice, she's used the time in between to solicit donations of lemons to keep proceeds high. The Antioch Piggly Wiggly and several of its employees have taken turns donating lemons to keep Sammie going.

Jessica said, "She wants to go Christmas shopping for the kids and pick things out herself. I expect that it will be an interesting couple of days when we do that."

Mooseheart is located about 40 miles west of Chicago and is home to both children and teens from infancy through high school.

"There are different circumstances that bring these kids here, but they all need support," Jessica said. "Some may be sponsored through college. Typically, there are 50-60 kids who don't have any other place to be at Christmas time."

After selling a few glasses of lemonade to loosen up, Sammie said she's enjoyed selling Moose Juice at FridayFest. "I really like the music," she said.

John said the Retro Rockets gave her a special signed CD for her efforts.

"I've been listening to it all week," Sammie said. "I turn the radio up really loud when it's on."

John said he's proud of the initiative that Sammie has taken.

"She has a really big heart, and it shows," he said.

Events sought for community calendar

To keep everyone posted about upcoming events as it has for more than a decade, First National Bank-Employee Owned is in the process of creating a community calendar for 2005. It's asking that all clubs and associations send in known events for the upcoming year for inclusion.

The deadline is fast approaching, Sept. 6, so don't delay in calling Karen Kubin at the bank, 847-395-3111, ext. 319.

Additionally, submissions can be mailed to Kubin at the First National Bank-Employee Owned, 485 Lake St., Antioch, IL 60002. The bank's facsimile number is 847-395-4948.

Kubin said, "We love doing the calendar every year, because it gets the community involved. Each year we have a different theme that is of general interest, and a lot of fun."

Belated anniversary congratulations to Joe Sterbenz and the Antioch Bowling Lanes, celebrating its 50th year.

Heard word that a new nightclub has opened in the interior, and that the Tower Room banquet hall can still service 250 people.

OUR TOWN

Sterbenz, and partners, reportedly purchased the lanes in 1968 and has helped the business grow from its initial 12 lanes to the modern 20-lane facility it is today.

Lance Hansen, store manager of Jack's Four Squires, sent word that the store received Retailer of the Year Award from Jim's Formal Wear (the largest formalwear distribution network in the United States).

Hansen said, "We're excited about this award."

Zachary Pratt, son of Wayne and Carla Pratt and senior at North Central College in Naperville, has been elected president of North Central's Beta Beta Beta chapter, a biological science honor society.

The chapter provides support networks for students who are involved with and interested in biological sciences.

Congratulations.

There are only two more FridayFest concerts left, both beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Brook Memorial Entertainment Center on Skidmore Drive, behind the stores that line the east side of Main Street.

The Lakes Area Swing Band will bring big band sound to life on Aug. 27. The following week, Sept. 3, 215 West will perform for the fest finale that has the theme of "Picnic in the Park."

Food and beverages are sold in the park by a variety of non-profit organizations. For that reason, outside goodies cannot be carried into the park.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Julie Murphy at 847-223-8161, ext. 600 or e-mail, moorfic@ix.netcom.com

Citizens no show at high school Dist. 117 budget hearing

As with previous years past, there were no concerned citizens prepared to address the board of education for Community High School District 117, and its budget was approved.

Business manager Bill Ahlers said there were no surprises in the budget and the budget was "breakeven."

On paper, there appears to be an $8 million difference between receipts and expenditures, overall, but Ahlers said it is because the district is spending money already brought in for site construction.

Additionally, he said the receipts appear to be down because of last year's late collection of tax bill revenue.

"This just makes it appear that the receipts are lower, but it's really just because of the timing of last year and this," Ahlers said.

The operating budget is at nearly $30 million for the year with the largest increase attributed to staffing the newly opened Lakes Community High School.

District 117 announces free-lunch policy

Community High School District 117 announced its policy for free lunches for those students unable to pay the full price for meals.

To receive this special meal service, students must meet the federal guidelines and the meals must meet the requirements established by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (exceptions are made for those with a disability requiring a special meal prescribed by a physician).

The following criteria will be used to determine eligibility for free lunches. As an example, meals are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $16,237, or a weekly income of $313. Free meals are available to those with a household size of four and an annual income of $24,505, or a weekly income of $472.

Applications are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. Additional forms are available in the principal's office.

All applicable questions should be answered. An incomplete application cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households that currently receive food stamps or TANF (temporary assistance for needy families) for the children need only list the name of the children and the food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application.

All other households must provide the following information: names of all household members; the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word "none" if the adult does not have a Social Security number; the amount of income each household member received last month and where it came from (wages, child support, etc.); the signature of an adult household member.

The school or other officials may verify this information at any time during the school year.

The school must be notified in the event of a change in household income of $50 per month or $600 per year, or if the household size decreases. Additionally, families must notify the school if they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their children.

This program may be applied for at any time within the school year as a situation or situations change making a household eligible. In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these meals regardless of household income.

Households have the right to a fair hearing if dissatisfied with the ruling, and this can be done by calling or writing Bill Ahlers, business manager, 1625 Deep Lake Road, Suite A, Lake Villa, IL 60046, 847-838-7141.

Valadez was arrested and issued citations for speeding and DUI. He was released on cash bond pending his Sept. 14 court date.

Phillip M. Middleton, 42, of 1224 Main St., was arrested for DUI on Aug. 18 at 1:22 a.m. on Route 173 west of Grimm Road.

He was stopped after he crossed the yellow centerline. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage.

When asked, Middleton told police he had had 12-13 drinks. He refused both field sobriety testing and chemical testing.

Middleton was arrested and issued citations for DUI, improper lane usage and not having his driver's license with him. He was released on personal recognizance pending his Sept. 14 court date.

Jerry D. Lapenta, 38, of 26150 Channel Ave., was arrested for driving while suspended on Route 59 at Bowles Road on Aug. 16 at 10:12 p.m.

He was stopped for weaving within his lane of traffic and having a defective front windshield. A check through LEADS/NCIC came back with information that his driver's license was suspended.

LAKE VILLA

Possession of cannabis

Jeffery B. Manrique, of 25588 W. Lake Shore Drive, Ingleside, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 13, at 11:54 p.m., along with Donald E. Villiard, 21, of 26376 W. Blackhawk Ave., Ingleside, who was driving eastbound on Route 132. Police stopped Villiard for making a turn without signaling. The driver and passenger both opened the doors of the vehicle and put their hands out in plain view, according to the police report. Police judged this behavior unusual in a routine traffic stop.

An odor of alcohol was detected, and both men appeared intoxicated. Villiard had no valid driver's license, and Manrique's license was suspended. A search of Manrique turned up a plastic bag containing a substance that appeared to be cannabis. At first, Manrique said police planted the bag, then he said Villiard planted the bag.

Manrique was charged with possession of cannabis. Villiard was charged with driving without a license and failure to signal a turn. Both were served with notices to appear in Grayslake Branch III court, on Sept. 9, at 3 p.m.

Possession of drug paraphernalia

Christine L. Varno, 41, of 39102 Shore Ave., Antioch, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 14, at 6:20 a.m., on the north-bound side of Cedar Lake Road near Monaville Road. Police observed the woman fall into a ditch. Lake Villa Rescue Squad was called to the scene. The woman said she lived nearby. Neighbors said she did not live there, and she had not been seen in the area before. The woman, later identified as Varno, was in possession of a handbag containing three prescription drugs in her name, as well as a "crack" pipe. She was told to come to the police department before Aug. 18 to receive a citation for possession of drug paraphernalia. On Aug. 19, when she had not shown up, police requested a warrant for her arrest.

DUI

Chris A. Gomez, 31, of 2054 Swazey St., San Luis Obispo, Cal., was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 15, at 8:10 p.m., while driving eastbound on Route 132 near Route 83. Police responded to 50 W. Milwaukee Ave. for a hit-and-run accident with property damage. The victim said a late model black Chevy Cavalier had been heading northbound on 83, then eastbound on 132, then made a wide turn, crashing into the victim's car.

Police located a 2003 Chevy, matching the description, in front of Cardinal Liquors at Linden Plaza, in Lindenhurst. The car had damage and fresh paint transfer consistent with the accident.

The suspect told police he came from Caboose Crossing Bar in Lake Villa. He said he had been drinking since 2 p.m., more than four quarts of beer and ale, and 8-9 mixed drinks, including Kamikazes. He said he had been at several area bars, including Buffalo Wild Wings in Round Lake Beach.

He did not remember being in a car crash. He failed five of five field sobriety tests, and a breath test yielded a result of .182 BAC. He was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 BAC, leaving the scene of an accident, driving an uninsured motor vehicle and improper lane usage. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Sept. 24, at 9 a.m.

Disorderly conduct, possession of cannabis

Steven D. Rossner, 34, of 149 N. Milwaukee Ave., Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 18, at 7:30 p.m., at 151 N. Milwaukee, his sister's home. He was found on the grounds carrying a cooler of beer.

He was taken to the Lake Villa Police Department, where a search turned up 2.3 grams of a substance that field-tested positive as cannabis. Rossner also was given a breath test, with a result of .320 BAC.

He was charged with possession of cannabis and disorderly conduct. He was released pending an appearance in Grayslake Branch III court.

Citizen Police Academy accepting applications

The Lake County Sheriff's Office is actively looking for participants for the Sheriff's Citizen Police Academy. Three classes have graduated from the academy and a fourth is scheduled to begin mid-September.

The thirty-hour block of instruction was developed to further enhance the lines of communication between the public and the sheriff's office. Participants are required to attend 10 three-hour classes that address a wide range of issues that local law enforcement encounters on a daily basis.

Sheriff Gary Del Re said, "I believe the citizens who attended our first three classes walked away with a better understanding of how local law enforcement works on a daily basis. I look forward to meeting a new class of citizens as they take advantage of this unique opportunity."

Those interested should be at least 21 years old and Lake County residents with no felony convictions.

An application can be picked up at the sheriff's office, located at 25 S. Martin Luther King, Jr. Ave., Waukegan, or one can be downloaded from www.co.lake.il.us/sheriff.

For more information, contact Deputy Michael Gregory of the Community Service Division at 847-377-4211.

LINDENHURST

Disorderly conduct

Chad M. Cupal, 24, of 121 Johnson Ave., Libertyville, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Aug. 16, at 6:20 p.m. after a complaint was made by a Village Hall employee. It was reported that Cupal came into the Village Hall at 11 a.m. that day to pay a parking ticket. When asked if he wanted a receipt, he said he did. The village employee told him she needed to verify the amount in the envelope.

He warned her she would probably not want to open the envelope, as it contained cat feces. He said he was angry about the parking citation. He had put a check for $30 in the envelope, along with a piece of cat feces and a note complaining about the police officer who issued the ticket.

He was charged with disorderly conduct, and was released on a $75 bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-405, on Aug. 31, at 9 a.m.

Illegal dumping

Michael Jefferson, 18, of 303 Birchwood, Round Lake, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Aug. 18, at 8:45 p.m., at a home on the 2300 block of Carriage Lane, where he had been working.

Police informed the homeowner that there had been a complaint of paint poured into storm sewer on May 25. The homeowner said he had hired College Works Paint Company to paint his house.

Jefferson, employed by College Works, said he was used to rinsing his paintbrushes in a five-gallon bucket and then pouring the water onto the grass, or wherever the homeowner specified. Jefferson said he asked his supervisor where to dump the dirty water, and was told to pour it into the sewer.

Jefferson was charged with illegal dumping, and was released on a $75 I-bond, pending an appearance in Grayslake Branch III court, on Oct. 6, at 10:30 a.m. Eric R. Kessler, 19, of 419 Hickory Lane, Antioch, Jefferson's co-worker was also charged.

Burglary to motor vehicle

Lindenhurst Police received a report on Aug. 18, at 8:51 a.m. of a damaged vehicle at 120 Dittmer Lane. Police found the front passenger side window of the black 1999 Dodge Durango had been smashed in, and the dashboard pulled apart. The complainant reported a CD-AM/FM stereo has been pulled out, and a portable DVD player was missing from behind the front seat. The victim reported that there had been no damage to the vehicle when her husband came home at 10:30 p.m. the previous night.

One band will set up at each end of Main Street and play alternate sets. Local vendors, including Burrito Express, Dairy Queen, Duke's Grill, JJ Twig's, Rusty's Ribs, and 3 Amigas, will line Main Street providing food and drinks along with Main Street businesses such as the new Lakeside Inn. The event is sponsored by the Wauconda Chamber and hosted by the Village of Wauconda as a fundraiser for the Wauconda/Island Lake Food Pantry. All residents are asked to bring non-perishable food donations to the Citizens Activity Center the night of the dance. The donations will be displayed on the front steps all evening with hopes of overflowing the collection carts. To encourage donations, the Chamber will hold a raffle for prizes including a one-week stay at a luxury condominium in Cancun, donated by Chamber member Main Street Café. District 36 announces free, reduced-price lunch policy Grass Lake School District 36 announced its policy for free and reduced-price lunches for students unable to pay the full price for meals.

To receive this special meal service, students must be able to meet the federal guidelines and the meals must meet the requirements established by the US Department of Agriculture (exceptions are made for those with a disability requiring a special meal prescribed by a physician).

The following criteria will be used to determine eligibility for free and reduced-price lunches. As an example, free meals are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $16,237 or a weekly income of $313. Reduced-price meals are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $23,107 or a weekly income of $445.

A letter as well as application and instructions were made available to all parents/guardians at registration. Additional packets are available in the main office of the school.

Incomplete applications cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households that currently receive food stamps or TANF (temporary assistance for needy families) for the children need only list the names of the children and the food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application.

All other households must provide the following information: names of all household members; the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word "none" if the adult does not have a Social Security number; the amount of income each household member received last month and where it came from (wages, child support, etc.); the signature of an adult household member.

School or other officials may verify this information at any time during the school year. The school must be notified in the event of a change in household income of $50 per month or $600 per year, or if the household size decreases. Additionally, families must notify the school if they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their children.

This program may be applied for at any time within the school year as situations change making a household eligible. In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these meals regardless of household income.

Households have the right to a fair hearing if dissatisfied with the ruling, and this can be done by calling or writing Patti Rische, business manager, 26177 W. Grass Lake Road, Antioch, IL 60002, 847-395-1550, ext. 11.

BELLES

(vests) were always worn as well.

In public, both men and women always had their heads covered.

"In the mid-1800s, women wore 'day bonnets' when they were at home," Wonderling said. "Their hair was always covered with bonnets or snoods."

In gathering accessories, Wonderling learned about some of the social rituals particular to the time.

Her collection of "mourning jewelry" includes items such as lockets containing the hair of the "dearly departed." Hair was also used to fashion earrings and brooches.

Courting was as complicated a ritual as mourning was. Fans were not only devices for cooling off the heat of all those layers of clothing, but also a means of non-verbal communication.

"A fan could be used flirtatiously," Wonderling said. She explained that how and when a fan was positioned in front of a woman's face could signal a suitor to approach or withdraw.

Wonderling, with fan in hand, will be a living display of Civil War-era fashion at the Civil War Ball on Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Lehmann Mansion at Longwood Center.

There, she will be wearing a ball gown made especially for the occasion. Many of the women at the ball will be wearing dresses and long skirts altered at a "no-sew" workshop held in August at the Lake Villa District Library.

For those still looking for guidance on the styles of the day, Wonderling recommended several books.

"Who Wore What?—Women's Wear from 1861-65" by Juanita Leitch was Wonderling's first pick for a sourcebook for collectors and/or Civil War re-enactors.

Two other books she uses as references are "Victorian Costume for Ladies, 1860-1900" by Linda Setnik and "Costume in Detail, 1730-1930" by Nancy Bradfield.

Library focuses on humor, dolls

Guest speakers have become a regular part of the Antioch Public Library's adult program with September's focusing on humor and dolls.

Popular speaker, author and psychologist Dr. William Goodman will address how to "Put More Humor in Your Life" on Thursday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m.

"Dr. Goodman is a former professor and was a talk show host," said Jane Connors-Geddes, adult programs coordinator. "I think it will be a very interesting evening. He's a humorist, but there is a psychological slant."

Reservations are required to attend this event.

On Monday, Sept. 20 at 7 p.m., Antioch local Brenda Herron will demonstrate "Making of a Porcelain Doll."

Some of Herron's dolls can be viewed in the library's display case.

Connors-Geddes said, "I like to invite local people to make presentations or speak in areas of their interest. It's nice to promote community involvement."

As with the Goodman presentation, reservations are required to attend this demonstration.

For more information, or to make reservations, call the Antioch Public Library at 847-395-0874.

SWALCO hosts final electronics collection

"Out with the old, in with the new" is a concept not easily fulfilled when it comes to disposing of used computers and other electronic equipment.

The Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO) contends that nearly half of the families with school-aged children will purchase electronics or computer-related equipment as part of their back-to-school shopping this year. For that reason, it is sponsoring one final household electronics collection for Lake County residents on Sept. 18 at 333 Knightsbridge Parkway, Lincolnshire, from 8 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

A variety of products, including computers, household electronics and home office equipment will be accepted.

The purpose of the SWALCO collection is to recycle as much as possible from the collected electronic products, ensure hazardous materials are safely disposed of and save valuable landfill space in the process. SWALCO collected over 100 tons of various electronic equipment last year, and nearly 54 tons of equipment at its May collection. Items disallowed from collection are as follows: dehumidifiers, air conditioners, or large appliances (e.g. stoves, refrigerators, freezers) and household chemical wastes.

According to SWALCO, the Environmental Protection Agency has estimated that "e-waste" (electronic and computer equipment) is becoming one of the largest and most hazardous segments of collective waste stream. Between 1997 and 2007, nearly 500 million personal computers will become obsolete.

Some computer manufacturers and retailers have also jumped on the e-waste bandwagon by offering their own collection programs. Dell Computers will include prepaid shipping labels with any new computer purchases, but only for a limited time. Hewlett Packard has teamed up with Office Depot to offer drop-off locations across the country, no matter what brand or product people need to get rid of (although only one item can be dropped off per day). Office Depots in Waukegan, Vernon Hills and Deerfield will accept e-waste through September 6, 2004.

The Sept. 18 event in Lincolnshire will be the last electronics collection SWALCO will offer in 2004. This event is for residents only.

More information about electronics recycling and disposal can be found on SWALCO's online disposal guide at www.swalco.org.

Antioch AARP seeks members

Antioch AARP Chapter 387 will have its first meeting of the 2004-05 season on Sept. 14 at the Antioch Senior Center. A brown-bag lunch, brought from home, will commence at 11:45 a.m. and the formal meeting at 1 p.m.

Sandy Harper said the business portion of the meeting would include a discussion with Carolyn Goothman who will provide insight into lobbying at the state and federal level for senior needs. Immediately following, there will be social time with cards and bingo.

The meeting is open to all who are 50 years old or more.

Harper said the chapter is actively seeking more members and said that some may be familiar with its Happy Cookers Kitchen Band.

"Our band has been all over," she said. "We enjoy traveling to other senior centers, treatment centers, Happy Seniors meetings, park districts and senior housing. Lots of people are familiar with our band because we've been all over Lake County."

Harper said the group doesn't officially meet over the summer and is resuming its regular monthly meetings. Meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

Lunches are held the first meeting of the month. Harper said, "Meals are mostly brought in when we have regular meetings to plan for them. Besides our first meeting, I believe we will have one other brown-bag lunch."

The second meeting of the month (held on the fourth Tuesday) is planned as a social meeting that will include entertainment, bingo and cards. Occasionally, there may be a speaker.

Harper said trips and tours are part of the benefit of belonging to Antioch AARP Chapter 387.

"The first trip will be Fireside at Christmas with lunch provided," she said. The date of that trip is Nov. 24 and will leave from the Antioch Senior Center on a motor coach.

Harper said that membership in the National AARP organization is optional. For more information, call her at 847-245-3519.

Local effort to support troops in Afghanistan

By LAURA JASTRAM
ljastram@lakelandmedia.com

Donna Casey's nephew, Capt. James Moyes, is currently deployed in Afghanistan building schools, hunting for Osama bin Laden and establishing local governments, but without many needed supplies and moral support.

Casey, a Lindenhurst resident, wanted to do something to help. She began advertising at Curves for Women in Lindenhurst and Grayslake to "adopt a soldier" within her nephew's unit. After she adopted a soldier and found out more about the program and how it works she kicked into high gear, working to get others to contribute their support.

The program allows adopters to write letters, e-mails and send packages to their soldier.

Some of the supplies from the long list are first aid, dice, teddy bears, movies, newspapers, lip balm and sun block.

Casey joined up with 35th Infantry Regiment Association, to find out the names and information of soldiers for people to adopt.

Casey instilled the help of Executive VP of the 35th Infantry Regiment Peter Birrow. Casey was introduced to Birrow through her brother-in-law, Randy Moyes, when she adopted her soldier. Birrow and other retired veterans from the 35th Infantry were already working to adopt the 750 soldiers in Task Force Cacti in Afghanistan.

Birrow said a majority of the organization's members served in the Vietnam War and experienced how things were in the 60s without much support for the troops and they wanted to make sure to these soldiers knew people cared about them.

"We had a lot of people who wanted to adopt and I think there's a plethora of people out there who want to adopt, but don't know how," Casey said.

After contacting Birrow, adopters are sent their soldier's name and instructions for how to make contact.

Casey said the soldier's rank must never be written for safety purposes. Letters can take from 10 to 12 days to arrive and packages can be from 20 to 24 days, unless they are sent by priority mail in which case they take 11 to 13 days.

The response from the letters and packages has been overwhelming, Casey said.

"Letters keep coming back from soldiers who can't believe the support they have," she said.

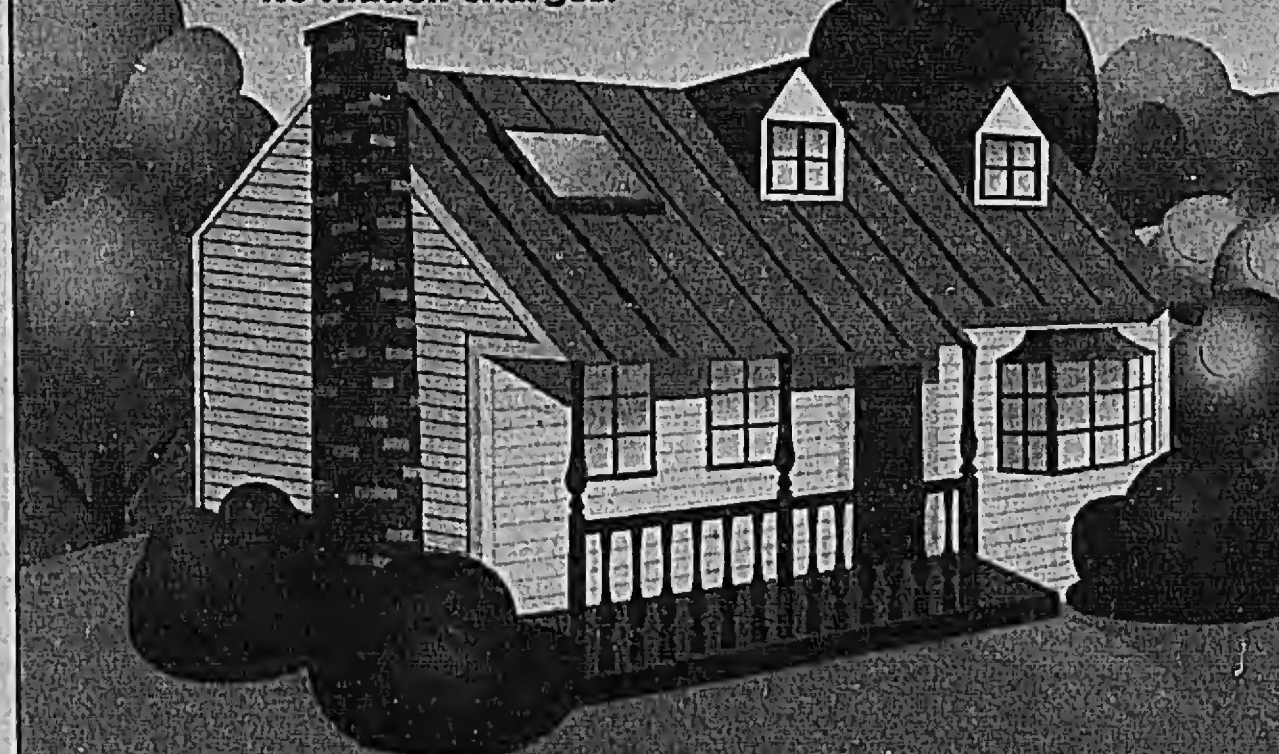

Casey has received letters from Moyes thanking people for the support saying, "it makes a big difference to the guys to have someone care enough to send packages."

Although Moyes' Bravo Company has all been adopted, Birrow said there are still about 300 soldiers in Headquarters, Alpha and Charley companies to adopt. To adopt a soldier or for more information, contact Birrow at birrowp@comcast.net or call him at 978-649-6562.

Moms, mostaccioli make extra point

By JOHN PHELPS
Lakeland Correspondent

It's one thing to experience Mom's good old-fashioned home cookin'.

But it's quite another when you have, oh, a dozen or so willing and able hard-working moms to prepare a feast for you, especially if you're a football player.

It's that combination that has yielded some pretty good results, as well as plenty of pounds, for 27 years strong.

The 27th Annual Antioch Mom's Football Camp was again a big hit last week, otherwise referred to in gridiron lingo as two-a-days or "hell week."

"They definitely spoil us," said senior offensive lineman Greg Lyons, whose mom Jan is one of the head moms this year for the camp. "They're the best, though. They make it easier for us and it's great they take the time for us."

Jan is joined by two additional head moms, Lori Eder and Mo Fortney, both of whom have sons playing varsity ball.

"We have moms represented on all levels," said Fortney, who coordinates operations with not only the camp but the concession stand as well. "We love taking care of the players. As far as we know, no other school in the area does this. It really promotes unity and camaraderie among everyone."

During the first two weeks of practice, the moms provide snacks and beverages. At the end of the first week, they cook Italian beef and their trademark mostaccioli for the players.

The end of the second week is the big gala, where the moms hold a cookout that includes a smorgasbord including yes, that world-famous mostaccioli.

"That's our staple," Eder said. "We usually go through about 15 pounds each of mozzarella cheese and noodles. We also go through 20 pounds of hamburger, 30 pounds of Italian beef, and there's over 150 dozen baked goods."

In addition to the aforementioned, the Football Camp menu also features hot dogs, hamburgers, brats, PB and J, various salads, sweets and plenty of water and Gatorade.

With the school's cafeteria being renovated last week, the moms had to improvise this year.

"It was a challenge. We had to move our base of operations (from the cafeteria) to the home-ec food lab," Jan Lyons said. "We've also been serving all of the meals down by the football field. But what a beautiful day it was out here today. It's a lot of work but it's all worth it."

The Moms' jobs transcend way beyond the 2-week camp. They prepare dinner before Friday night games and breakfast items before any Saturday afternoon games during the season.

They also sew nameplates on all of the jerseys, make locker plaques for all varsity players, and provide the team with various spirit gifts throughout the course of the season.

"Spirit gifts include shorts, sweatshirts, baseball caps, wrist bands, gym bags, and a CD that includes a lot of their favorite songs," Eder said.

Eder also said a Mom's Football Camp will also start at Lakes Community High School starting next year, when the new school starts its own sports program.

"We'll share any proceeds we make this year with Lakes to help them start their own Mom's Football Camp next year," Lyons said.

At the end of the cookout last week, all players presented each and every Mom with a red long-stem rose.

"That's the least we could do," said senior running back Mike Miller. "They do so much for us. They take good care of us. We really appreciate all of what they do."

Aside from Eder, Fortney and Lyons, other moms playing a regular role in the success of this year's camp include: Treasurer Tina Godin, Diane Hughes, Vicki Walker, Karen Hartmann, Donna Romani, Nanci Geweke, Toni Hamziuk, Cindy Knupp and Karen Brinser.

Note: Homecoming will take on an extra special meaning this year. The Football Moms and ACHS invite all alumni, former players and friends to a reception on Saturday, Oct. 16 in the cafeteria beginning at 11 a.m. The reception will take place right after the Homecoming parade and just before the Sequoits varsity football game at 1 p.m. against Lake Forest.

With the opening of Lake Community High School, this year's Homecoming will mark the final year where Dist. 117 is recognized as one campus.

Sequoit booters getting ready for battle

By ROB BACKUS
rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

No matter what it says on the scoreboard, Antioch's soccer team won't ever be accused of a lack of effort. New coach Bill Stafford won't let that happen.

"Our practices are so great; we're in crazy good shape right now," said Stafford, who served as the sophomore coach last season. "Our guys will battle and die with each other. We're ready for war."

This season Stafford has exactly the type of players he wants as the Sequoits look to improve on last year's 11-6-6 record.

"We have a bunch of solid athletes with soccer skills," Stafford said. "That's my favorite type of player."

Those players include junior sweeper Jason Moxley, senior fullback John Barlow and junior fullback/midfielder Dan Braun.

"Those guys are always going," Stafford said. "And Dan is going to be all over the place for us. He just finds the ball."

Last year's team, which lost to Cary-Grove in penalty kicks in the regional final, featured six seniors in the starting lineup.

This time around the juniors will rule the roost, but that's not to say that there aren't some solid seniors. In addition to Barlow, senior midfielder and captain Gary Meridian will be an integral part of the team, on and off the field.

"He's just a workhorse," Stafford said. "He's a solid player. I can't say enough nice things about him."

Players like Meridian and Braun give Antioch an advantage in the midfield, according to Stafford.

"One of our strengths will be ball control," Stafford said. "Our guys can move the ball well and they're not afraid to make long runs."

Of course, ball control doesn't matter if the midfielders don't have a place to pass the ball.

Fortunately, Antioch has a dynamic duo of sorts in brothers Alex (a junior) and Brett (a sophomore) McKenzie.

"They're also a pair of workhorses," Stafford said. "They're a nice pair to have up front. They play very well together. They don't talk a lot, but there's an unspoken brotherhood between them."

Speaking on the field, though, is something the rest of the team has to work on.

"We need to work on our communication," Stafford said. "We're too quiet on the field. Our seniors really need to lead the other players out there."

Nowhere is the team's youth more noticeable than on defense as all four starters are gone from a back line that allowed just one goal in five playoff games.

"We're really trying to stress defense right now," Stafford said. "We can't lose if the other team doesn't score. It's defense first, we end with defense and there's more defense in between."

Luckily, Antioch has a brick wall standing in goal in keeper Alex Mayer.

"He's an animal, one of the best keepers in the area," Stafford said. "He's the type of keeper you get once every ten years."

With all of those potential assets, you would think that Stafford practically expects perfection on the field. Instead, he has a different goal in mind.

"We just want to see guys improve over the course of the season," Stafford said. "We're not focused on wins, that'll take care of itself."

Antioch will go for win number one when it travels to Grayslake on Aug. 30.

Rams looking for a quick turnaround

rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

It's been 12 years since Grayslake last won a conference title. And even then it was in the now defunct Northwest Suburban Conference in 1992.

But second-year coach Jeanna Beerbower is looking to change all that. And while she knows that it probably won't be this year in a loaded Fox Valley Conference, she does know one thing.

"We're going to be much better than we were last year," said Beerbower, whose team finished 5-27 in 2003. "We have some offensive power this year. Last year we didn't really have it, so we could only focus on fundamentals. This year's team gives us a lot of options."

Junior middle hitters Gabby Pate and Jill Smart and seniors Amy Anderson (defensive specialist) and Nicole Sarver (setter) all return with varsity experience. Junior outside hitters Ashleigh Swearingen and Janice Johnson will round out the starting lineup.

"Since we're just implementing our offense, we still need to work on it," Beerbower said. "It will be gradual, so hopefully by mid-season we'll hit our stride."

The team does have one shortcoming, no pun intended.

"We don't have a single player over 5-8,"

Beerbower said. "So we're going to make up for that by playing pretty good defense."

Pate and Anderson also play another important role. As team captains, it will be their responsibility to lead the team on the court and off.

"The biggest thing I'm looking for is a change in attitude and that's why I chose captains," Beerbower said. "They have to lead and encourage the team all the time."

And Beerbower has liked what she's seen from her team so far.

"The kids are awesome this year," Beerbower said. "I can't say enough about them. The girls have such a positive attitude; they really have a lot of chemistry."

Those things will be important if the Rams are to achieve their goal this season.

"We're shooting for .500 in conference and over .500 overall," said Beerbower, whose team finished 0-10 in the FVC last season. "We're also looking for some upsets."

Grayslake will have an early chance for an upset victory as the team opens the season against sectional champ Lake Zurich on Sept. 2. The team also faces powerhouse Prairie-Ridge and a solid Crystal Lake South team in conference.

"I always believe that we can beat anyone," Beerbower said. "But the girls have to believe that. That's my job as coach."

Lake Villa Rebels win KAA Klassic

The Lake Villa Rebels came home with the championship trophy from the KAA Klassic 12-year old baseball tournament that was played up in Kenosha earlier this month.

The Rebels, a team made up predominantly of eleven year olds, added two twelve-year olds to the team just to round out the roster.

"We went to have a little fun and gain some experience," said Rebels coach Rob Nordby. "We managed to play well enough to beat some very good twelve-year-old teams. The kids definitely had fun all weekend long!"

The Rebels got solid pitching throughout the tournament, primarily from Matt Bergstrom, Mark Ortman and Nick Hibbing. The pitching and a very solid defensive effort yielded only fourteen runs in four games, the lowest total of any team in the tournament.

The team also had a combined hitting attack from long ball to small ball with everyone in the lineup contributing. They ran the bases well and took advantage of any opportunities they had.

The Rebels started the tournament on Friday night with a hard-fought 7-6 loss to the talented host team, the Kenosha Bobcats. On Saturday, however, the Lake Villa team opened with a 14-0 win over the Beloit Reds and then beat the Madison All-Stars to advance to the championship game on Sunday.

The Rebels scratched out a 3-0 lead early in the final game. The North Shore Thunder scored three runs in the top of the fifth inning, however, and the game remained tied until the bottom of the sixth. The Rebels scored the winning run on a close play at first and wrapped up the championship.

Dynamic new health clinic opens in North Chicago

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

The atmosphere was positive and almost akin to a gospel revival meeting at the grand opening ceremony of the brand new North Chicago Community Health Center located at 2215 14th St.

"In a community health center the word community is very significant because that is exactly what this is all about," said Dale Galassie, executive director of the Lake County Health Department. "This facility will employ people from this community—it will treat people from this community—and will help make North Chicago an even better place than it is today."

The new facility, designed by Daniel Bleck Architects, will provide increased access to care for the uninsured and underinsured, providing for about 3,000 additional patient visits a year.

In 2003, the old 7,500 square foot facility located on 10th Street had 16,649 patient visits.

The new 10,100 square foot facility has 12 medical exam rooms, five dental operatories, seven intake desks, two team rooms and an expanded laboratory among other new rooms.

Belkis Garay, a nursing assistant with North Chicago for five years, is ecstatic about the new building.

"I love it because it's bigger and we can see more people. It's hard when people call and have to wait for an appointment. We need to be available when the people need us," Garay said. "I come from a poor community in the Dominican Republic and I wish we had a clinic like this when I was little. We have a great team here who really care about the people. This is really what it's all about. You have to have a feeling in your heart to care for people."

The health department raised about $2 million to build the new facility which includes a federal grant of $906,000 sponsored by former Congressman John Porter and a $75,000 State grant sponsored by State Senator Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills).

Angelo Kyle (D-Waukegan) is also the President of the National Association of Counties and is a big fan of accessible health care for everyone. Kyle spoke up during the ceremony.

"There are 47 million Americans without health care and that is approximately one out of every five. And when you really look at the uninsured and the underinsured in America it has been county government providing care. It's facilities like this that really fill in the gap for uninsured America," Kyle said. "When you look at the federal government continuing to try to develop a universal health care access program—county government must be at the table—because we've been doing it for as long as we can remember. We might even be able to teach the federal government how to administer health care to the uninsured because we are the ones that have been doing it."

Kyle, who is also a minister, added that providing health care is really carrying out an act of God.

North Chicago Mayor Bette Thomas was the last to speak at the ceremony.

"To the one who woke us up this morning—honor and praise. On behalf of the citizens of North Chicago—thank you. I am delighted. This is the most beautiful facility in North Chicago that I've seen in a long time. I am so happy because it is going to help so many people in our city. I am just excited. I am just delirious today. Thank you is such a small word but it means so much. God bless all of you and God keep all of you. And you can be sure that this facility is going to be utilized," Thomas said.

Criminal threatens cop

murphy@lakelandmedia.com

Frank G. Farella, 40, can add charges of fleeing and alluding, driving while revoked and resisting arrest to his criminal history after sending police on a 24-hour search after threatening one officer's life when stopped for a traffic violation on Aug. 8.

Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville said, "He has a history of violence, assault and weapons charges, and resisting arrest in addition to parole violations with the Department of Corrections and revoked driver's license for DUI."

Somerville said an officer initially tried to stop Farella after witnessing him swerving and crossing the centerline of the road.

"You can't print what he actually said, but he said he would kill the officer," Somerville said. "He then took off at a high rate of speed and was seen reaching for something in the car. The officer followed him for a while, but lost sight of him in traffic."

Somerville said he and officer Rick Moritz began searching the area of Route 83 and Grass Lake Road after a Lake Villa officer reported finding Farella's car abandoned in the area.

"We were able to identify Farella because of the car, and because of the landlord of an apartment he had where he had been living in the area," Somerville said. "Lake County Sheriff's Office helped with surveillance of the apartment. We came to find out he was expected at a local tavern that evening, so we sent two officers in posing as patrons, and had two more waiting outside."

Somerville said when Farella showed up at about 6 p.m. (Aug. 9), Farella was arrested after a brief struggle.

"There were numerous active warrants for his arrest, plus a parole hold," Somerville said. "He was taken to the Lake County Jail."

Second installment of property taxes due

Lake County property owners should be aware that the deadline to pay the second installment of their 2003 real estate taxes is Friday, Sept. 3. Lake County Treasurer Robert Skidmore is reminding county residents of the deadline so that residents can avoid incurring a late fee.

Payments can be made in person at the Lake County Treasurer's Office, 18 N. County St., Room 102, Waukegan or at most Lake County Banks. The original tax bill must be presented to the teller when paying at a bank.

In order to avoid penalty, payments must be postmarked on or before Sept. 3.

In addition to regular office hours of Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., the Treasurer's Office will be open Saturday, Aug. 28 from 9 a.m.-noon and on Sept. 3 until 7 p.m.

For more information, visit the Lake County Treasurer's Web site at www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer or call 847-377-2323.

Messerli move answers question

As glittering as his record was as executive director of the Lake County Forest Preserve District—and it was sparkling—Steven Messerli broke one cardinal rule and he paid for his error with his $190,000 a year job. He forget that elected officials are his boss.

There was growing unrest among district commissioners, who also serve as Lake County Board members, over who was calling the shots for district policy and administration. The hired hand or representatives of the electors? A group of dissident commissioners asked District President Bonnie Thomson Carter once too often, "Who's boss? You or Steve Messerli?" In the end, Carter was called upon to make a decision. Until that decision, Carter had been one of Messerli's ardent supporters.

Differences of opinion over developing Ft. Sheridan preserve property ultimately turned to Messerli's downfall. As was his approach in 13 years with the district, the executive had drawn grand plans for Ft. Sheridan as he had done in leading Lake County's growth to the second largest district in Illinois with 25,000 acres, second only to Cook County. Not all the commissioner's agreed with Messerli's vision of Ft. Sheridan as a "North Shore jewel."

There was a movement to get the director's scalp. In fairness, the Messerli years proved to be good for the residents of Lake County. Ironically, they proved to be not so good for the 51-year-old parks professional.

Condell marks Greene years

There always is an element of risk in naming a public building after a person, living or dead. Is the person worthy of recognition? Deserving? Is the naming politically motivated?

There was no risk in the dedication of the Howard H. Greene Jr. Intensive Care Unit, a new 33-room addition to Condell Medical Center. The addition stands as a tribute to Howard "Skip" Greene, one of the longest serving directors of Condell and easily one of the most skilled and dedicated board members to serve the medical facility that has grown to be Lake County's largest, a $250 million-a-year business.

The long-time Condell booster died in 2002 at age 80. He was associated with Condell for more than 40 years, serving numerous terms as chairman. A businessman and entrepreneur, Skip Greene sensed early on that for Condell to sustain its mission of serving and saving, it would have to succeed as a business. As a mentor and model for other board members, Greene showed how adoption of sound business decisions focused on growth would benefit the hospital. His soft-spoken and self-effacing style served well during periods of turbulence and stress experienced by the hospital established in the 1920s with a gift from a Libertyville resident.

Seek 'Deep Throat'

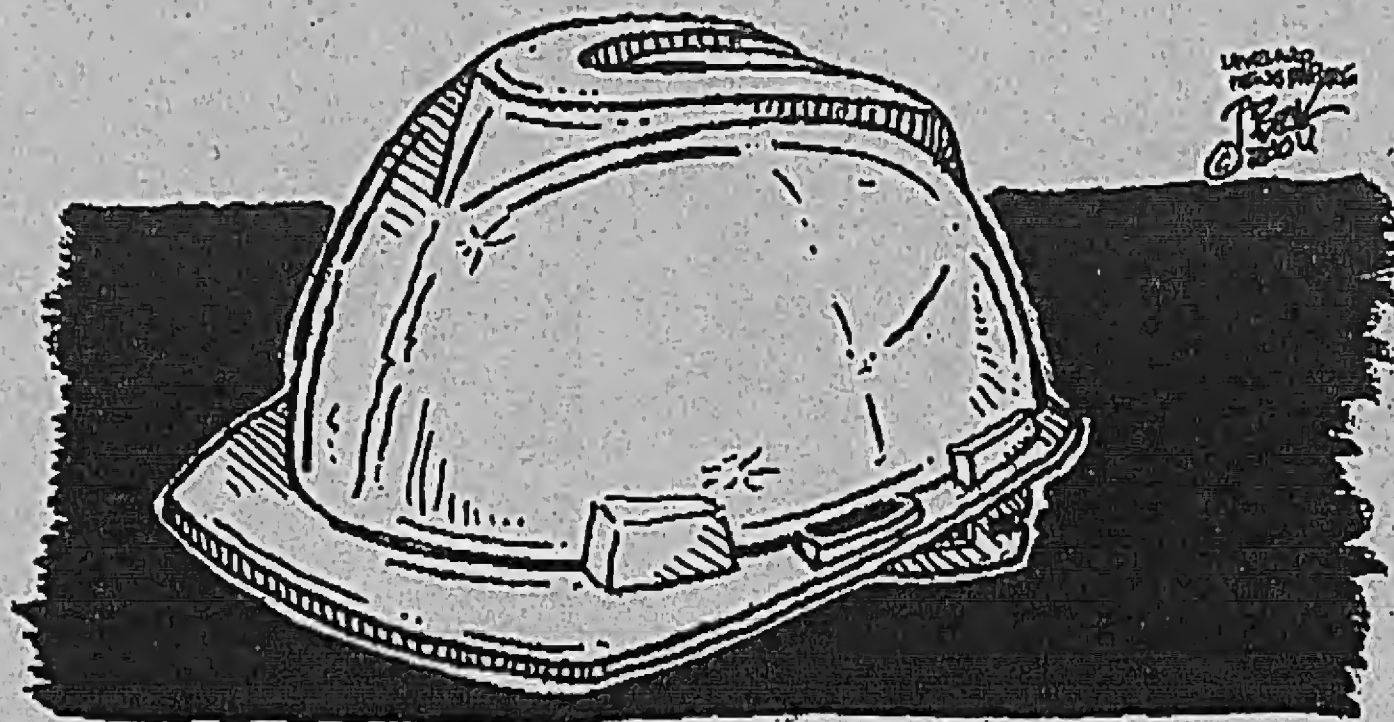

Public officials tackling the job of rehabilitating Lake County's aging downtowns never envisioned the task as a rose garden stroll, but it's probably correct to assume that none of them expected to be targets of slander with shades of Watergate's Deep Throat.

That's exactly the position members of the Grayslake village board find themselves as the result of circulation of an unusually spirited anonymous criticism of their efforts to draft a comprehensive plan for the next 20 years. The cowardly author attributed the origin of the broadside to "Grayslake Downtown Merchants," a non-existent organization. Only clue to the writer's identity is a hatred of condominiums. A new sport has been derived from searching for the anonymous writer, who borrowed heavily from rap talk to display displeasure with the plan.

Mayor Tim Perry considers the letter a personal attack. He said the writer cravenly attributed the letter to downtown business people as a ruse. Former Mayor Pat Carey termed the criticism as a "reprehensible act." An unexpected reaction was a rally of support on the part of business owners and operators for the long range plan, which relies heavily on the concept of "mixed use" zoning that incorporates commercial development with construction of residential condos.

The search for Grayslake's "Deep Throat" aside, the idea of planning for people living near their work or shopping, strikes us as a sort of "back to the future" concept where the "new" downtown with shops and offices on the street level and living units above will look a lot like our main street business districts in days of yore. We see this happening all over. The chicken-hearted anonymous author must be caught in a time warp.

WHAT EVERY FASHIONABLE CUBS FAN IS WEARING TO WRIGLEY FIELD...

VIEWPOINT

Using soybeans in your gas tank

Those velvety green waving fields of soybeans, so common this time of year in the Lake County countryside, hold a partial answer to where American can find renewable fuel in America.

Soybeans are a key ingredient in soy biodiesel fuel, a product that is getting better known—and used—by farmers, but still a mystery to mainstream American motorists.

Because soybeans are such an important cash crop in this state, Illinois is destined to play a big role in the development of biodiesel. Soy biodiesel is available at petroleum loading racks used by farmers, but no one is venturing a guess as to when it will be commercially available to general consumers.

Politicians are jumping on the soy fuel bandwagon. Gov. Rod Blagojevich signed into law an act that established $15 million for new ethanol and biodiesel plants and existing plant expansions. In Illinois, if just all agriculture and off-road diesel users used two percent biodiesel, eight million more bushels of beans would be needed. There's the answer why there are so many soybean fields. And more to come.

Biodiesel's bright future is one reason for the rosy outlook for agriculture in Illinois. The National Biodiesel Board expects biodiesel use to reach 500 million gallons in 2010. Biodiesel is on the cusp of making a significant dent in how fuel is consumed. There are political and practical answers to behold.

Last chance to swing

Short notice, but big band fans have an opportunity to enjoy their favorite music at 7:30 p.m. Friday, August 27, at the Brook Memorial Entertainment Center, Antioch, with a performance by the Lakes Area Swing Band. There is no admission charge. The Brook Center concert season is winding down with one more performance scheduled for Sept. 3. The concerts are a link with the past when many Lake County towns sponsored community bands, with tax appropriations no less. Waukegan boasted probably the biggest and best town band. Not far behind was the Libertyville Municipal Band where a certain newspaper columnist tooted the alto saxophone during his high school and college years. The late Percy Snow, head of Musicians Local 284 AFM, directed the Libertyville band for a number of years.

Better with age

Talk about Wrigley Field falling down only after 90 years has to be a joke to persons and organizations keeping Lake County landmarks going that date well before the Civil War. One of the historic sites benefiting from tender loving care and expert preservation is Mother Rudd House in Gurnee, famous as a stop for slaves on the underground railway during the Civil War. Dating from 1840, Rudd House looks better than ever with a modern-day makeover. Thank historical societies for leading the way for preservation.

Cheesy goodbye

Recognized as a Green Bay Packer fan, departing Grayslake High Supt. Elizabeth McDonald was presented a giant foam cheese hat at public recognition of her 11 years of service. McDonald isn't expected to wear the hat in her new post as a professor at National Louis University, but she modeled the headgear in good humor before a gathering of the village council.

One man's family

After a slow start, the tomato patch has rounded into shape and is producing solid fruit. No more store bought tomatoes until frost. A bonus this year was a section of the garden where tomatoes seeded themselves. The unexpected plants quickly caught up. Must have been the fine touch of the lady in the house whose green-thumb skills are paying dividends this summer.

Looking for a good four-letter word

President Harry Truman used to say, "I never give them HELL—just tell the truth, and they think it's HELL." That may have been the first "four-letter word" that I had heard from a politician, but it's not as rare nowadays. In fact, HELL would be considered quite mild in today's political jargon and atmosphere.

In late June, Vice President Dick Cheney had raised some eyebrows when he blasted the four-letter epithet at Sen. Patrick Leahy, using the "F-WORD" in suggesting that the senator so "indulge himself." Well, you know what I mean.

Evidently, Cheney had "had it" with Leahy's persistent criticism leveled at Cheney for his ties to Halliburton and its profiteering and noncompetitive bid awards in Iraq.

So much for compassionate conservatism and family values. The Vice-President defended his display of vulgarity even though he used the U. S. Senate Floor to register it. He said, "I felt better after I said it; it was long overdue, and what I said badly needed to be said." His political opponents may think that there are some things about it that are badly needed to be said.

It is unfortunate, but true, that no matter which political party or candidate claims that they will take "the high road" during the political campaign, it will, on both sides, be nasty, negative, dirty, and vulgar. It has already, based on all of the TV political ads that I have seen, been the most negative campaign ever. When you consider that "both sides" will total about $500 million dollars in campaign funds, what a travesty to spend about a half-bil-

Finn handling hot condo issue

Waukegan Atty. Newton Finn, no stranger to tackling hot issues and fighting tough battles, has signed on to represent a group of citizens opposed to a condominium development in Round Lake Park.

Opponents to high density housing have formed "Stop the Over Development Plan." They are concerned about more than 300 units creating traffic and safety problems at the intersection of Hainesville Rd. and Washington St. They also are sorting out the possibility that some of the units have been earmarked for low income families.

Finn is known as running for mayor of Waukegan in an eyelash defeat. He is working with County Board candidate Larry Leafblad on reform of Illinois assessing laws. Leafblad, a neighbor of the proposed development, has limited his involvement in the condo rhubarb to observing.

"Stop the Over Development" has approximately 100 members and was able to raise $5,000 for initial legal fees and other campaign expenses in a short period.

As a side issue, condo fighters also are rallying to the defense of Cosme Irazoque, operator of a trucking business, who said village officials and the developer are trying to force him to sell his home next door to the proposed development. Irazoque resides in an 80-year-old home known as the Clawson property. At one time the family operated a community well business that supplied water to homes built in the neighborhood following World War II. Irazoque claims village police are harassing him by issuing illegal parking tickets

Say it isn't so

The unbelievable is being whispered in Mundelein—the retirement of Village Administrator Ken Marabella. With 28 years on the job, Marabella is Lake County's longest serving village administrator. Besides serving as a role model for career professionals, Marabella has instructed more fledgling news reporters in the intricacies of municipal law and village affairs than a journalism professor. He is credited with having a major influence on Mundelein's growth and development for more than two decades.

Library wounds

Libertyville vs. Vernon Hills wounds have been re-opened in the debate over efforts to renovate Cook Memorial Library which services both communities. Two appointed library trustees, Karen Broms and Aaron Lawler, voted against spending plans for updating the historic building in Cook Park, Libertyville. Both are residents of Vernon Hills.

Walk, don't run

Waukegan Township Supervisor Patricia Jones is working overtime to get a lot of people on their feet for a senior citizens benefit. They'll be participating at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 18 in the 5th Annual Walk for Seniors. The event is the combined effort of the City of Waukegan, Park District, City of North Chicago, Part City Township C.A.R.E.S. and Waukegan Township. Families will be walking to a giant gala at Victory Park.

Keyes to victory

By extending an invitation to two events, Lake County Republicans hope they can land U.S. Senate candidate Alan Keyes for at least one official appearance during the fall campaign. Keyes has his choice of the annual Lake County Republican Federation Breakfast Saturday, Sept. 18, at Conway Farms, Lake Forest, or the Federation's fall dinner Thursday, Oct. 21, at Glen Flora Country Club, Waukegan.

Serious social

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Stuart of Lake Forest are opening their home Sunday, Sept. 12, for a reception honoring Congressman and Mrs. Mark Kirk. The gathering is organized as a social event, but Republican stalwarts in the invitation list are sure to be talking about how to get out a rousing vote to defeat Northbrook attorney Lee Goodman, the Democratic nominee, who has been nipping at Kirk's heels with a flood of position papers.

lion dollars of negative propaganda to win political office. The citizenry cannot be the winners as long as those types of campaigns are waged.

I write all of the above to bring to discussion of "four-letter words" that can determine the future of our country and the world.

The first "four-letter word" is HATE. We see it in the political campaigns. Rather than people disagreeing on issues based on the merits, there is a "deep divide" and polarization in this country. The political ads nurture some of that hate. There are deep divisions based on political extremes, social differences, racial and gender biases, economic status, religious differences, and other ideological issues.

Elections are always the time when serious policy matters should be openly discussed. But, I have never seen the time when issues are crafted during campaigns to elicit political venom to draw wedges amongst the people when we should be doing everything in our power to bring people to come together to make life better for everyone.

The HATE-FACTOR is not limited to political campaigns. The four-letter word HATE is spreading quickly across international boundaries. Having read my columns, you may be aware that I have been opposed to the preemptive strike of war in Iraq. All along, I have thought that such an action would just breed more HATE against the United States, and the world will never be the safer because of it. Because of the Iraq War, it is becoming an "US against THEM" thing, and there is no reason why we "should be alone in the world." It seems as though our policies are heading us that way, and no good can come from it.

There is an important "FOUR-LETTER WORD" that can be the savior of the world. We need more of it. Rather than HATE in the world, we need LOVE. What we need is LOVE of one another as human beings. What we need is LOVE AND RESPECT of each other. The amazing thing is that it doesn't cost anything—and it works.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

People can differentiate oil sites

Desperation appears in many forms, one of which was the editorial by Mr. Schroeder about the slogans used by Democratic candidates which he said were GOP rhetoric. One phrase included the words "best days are ahead," which he attributed to Reagan. A Google search of that phrase yielded about four million hits. Other phrases, such as "America can do better" and "Help is on the way" are simply part of the language. Trying to claim ownership of common phrases is reminiscent of the Fox Network trying to claim "fair and balanced" as a phrase that only it could use in public utterances.

Mr. Schroeder indicated that Mr. Kerry might think the American people are dunces about partisan politics when he opposed opening the Alaskan wilderness reserve to oil exploitation. The American people are quite capable of differentiating the small amount of oil available from Alaska in 5-10 years from that currently available from Saudi Arabia. Real dependence on foreign oil supplies will require leadership from an administration not itself immersed in the oil business.

Larry Feigen
Wauconda

Editor's note: Larry Feigen is the Democratic nominee for state representative from the 52nd District covering southwest Lake County and eastern McHenry County.

Helander should reconsider

I understand how "human error" caused an overcharging on Wauconda School District 118 tax rate on the 2003 property tax bill. The estimated $25 to $50 refund due a property owner is certainly not going to enable a homeowner to consider early retirement. However, what I take exception to is Lake County Clerk Willard Helander's response to the solution to the "human error," saying the county would follow protocol established by the legislature as it would cost taxpayers even more to distribute the refunds before next year.

I do not profess to be an expert on county procedures or accounting, but I cannot understand two things: 1. Why the same human who created the error is unable to simply re-run the tax bill, putting in the correct $4.145 tax rate, create a spreadsheet comparing the actual vs. the correct charge and issue a check for the difference on a timely basis? Yes, this will take time, regardless of when the recalculation is completed. 2. Why the taxpayers would be charged for the correction if the refund is issued prior to next year? In a typical business setting, when a human makes an accounting error, the customer is not charged for the correction. The cost for correction flows with the cost of doing business. The timing of the refund is done as soon as possible to help ensure good relations.

I think Helander should consider—to keep good relations with the affected taxpayers, many of whom are registered voters—issuing a timely refund with her office absorbing the costs. Remember the sage of Mayor Michael Bilandic opting not to get Chicago's snowplows out on a timely basis? The Chicago voters overwhelmingly showed their dissatisfaction with his decision simply by voting "no" for his re-election.

No one is safe

Regarding the heinous stabbing of the innocent 16-year-old girl in Ingleside on July 14. It has been reported that one Adam Christenson, 21, has been arrested in connection with this crime.

Under the Police Beat section entitled "Possession of Cannabis, Weapon," I read that on July 12, one Adam Christenson, 21 was charged with unlawful possession of a hypodermic needle and unlawful use of weapons.

Could the "Scum Bag" that was charged on July 12 for "unlawful use of weapons" (whatever that means) possibly be the same degenerate who was arrested for the senseless killing of this young girl only two days later on July 14?

If this Adam Christenson is one and the same, who was "reigned in" and charged on July 12, only to be cut loose so he could rob a home in Ingleside on July 13, and to return to the home on July 14 to rob again, but this time to brutally steal the life of this unsuspecting young girl who was asleep on a couch in her family room, then I agree that everyone is their own best protection. There are no other options. If someone isn't safe to be alone in their own home, in the middle of the day, then why would anyone feel safe, at any time, in the forest preserve?

Protecting wetlands

I am rather shocked and surprised that environmental activists such as Suzanne Harris, Susan Zingle, Naomi Mitchell and members of the GTTA have been so quiet about the filling of almost two acres of wetland in the Fish Creek Watershed. Apparently a builder/developer has been cited by the Army Corps of Engineers for destroying wetlands where egrets and cranes have been nesting.

Thank goodness for Lake County Board Representative Bonnie Thomson Carter, once she realized what happened, she was in immediate contact with the Army Corps representatives to understand what the issues are, how to best correct them and to encourage the Corps to insure that proper restoration of this area so that the egrets and cranes can continue to nest. I'm sure that through her efforts our environment will continue to be protected as she has done so many times before. It is dedicated elected officials such as Ms. Carter, who will keep northwestern Lake County a fine place for people to live while working to preserve the natural habitat that we sometimes take for granted.

Make event special

Having completed another Special Olympics event, I reflect once again on the kindness, generosity and patience displayed by those involved. Yes the world seems to be getting tougher, more selfish and self centered.

I've been working with Special Olympics tennis for 18 years now. I have met so many kind people which includes the athletes, families, Special Olympics personnel and my many wonderful volunteers. We can't run these events without those giving their time to make these events a success.

I need to mention a few names here. Mary Price hasn't missed an event in 17 years. Glynda Kupczak has sung the National Anthem and other songs for us for 10 years. Others like Marcella Torres, Cataline Caro, Ray Fern, Lori, Eric and Wayne Teeman, Katrina Cuison, Megan Hutchins and Phyllis Wilkens spent the entire day there. Their brains and their bodies were taxed to the limit as they stood on court hour after hour monitoring matches or chasing balls. The day was hot.

In addition to the tennis meet, we honored the families with Family Appreciation Day. Thanks to Becky Gifford for her generosity and contribution for this part of the day's events. Thanks to the Libertyville Parks and Recreation for allowing us to use their facility. We have been there for over 10 years. They have cooperated with us in every way possible. Thank you.

Keyes brings Senate bid to forest preserve rally

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@lakelandmedia.com

Although facing an uphill struggle in the polls, Republican U.S. Senate candidate Alan Keyes believes firmly his message will come across as one in which Illinois voters may find agreement on before the Nov. 2 election.

Keyes made a campaign speech in the Wauconda area, meeting and greeting and signing autographs for guests at the Lake County Republican Assembly event at Lakewood Forest Preserve. He is facing Democrat Barack Obama for the Nov. 2 senate race for the spot vacated by Peter Fitzgerald. The Saturday appearance was Keyes' first official campaign stop in Lake County.

Keyes, who is from Maryland, served as ambassador to the United Nations and is a two-time presidential candidate and a conservative.

Bob Jarvis of Wildwood said he became a Keyes supporter during the presidential primaries of 1996 and 2000. His wife, Mary, has GOP political buttons dating back 50 years or more, and the family's grand father met president Jim McKinley.

"We wanted to come and watch. He is a good conservative and a smart guy," Mary Jarvis said.

"So far, so good. He should be able to give Obama a run," said Ken Arnold, secretary of the Warren Township Republican Party.

"My true belief through my public and political life. In so far as it is in my power to do so, I must think with integrity and act with conviction and stand above the crowd and for my love of this country and my love of God provides," Keyes said. "I have walked that path, without equivocation, without hesitation, and I put victory into the hands of God.

Keyes said Obama does not have "the self-confidence to represent the whole state of Illinois," responding to a question of debates. One debate will be Oct. 21 in Chicago on ABC-TV.

Keyes: Alan Keyes makes first campaign stop in Lake County

Keyes said he believes in creating quality jobs for the economy, while Obama and the Democrats favor creating jobs through government.

Keyes will ensure opportunity for jobs and businesses for our neighborhoods, parental and community controls of education, and favors the replacing of the federal income tax.

He has a Ph.D. in government from Harvard and is past president of Alabama A&M University. Keyes and his wife Jocelyn have three children.

Keyes, who, like Obama, is African-American, explained his positions on reparations sought by descendants of slaves. He said he favors granting a tax break to those who can prove being a descendent of slaves. He said this was done in the Roman Empire to those whom the state may have harmed.

Dr. William Dam of Fox Lake, wearing a red, white and blue Uncle Sam hat, said he was proud to nominate Keyes for the Senate spot. Keyes won the nomination by the Illinois Republican Central Committee after Jack Ryan had withdrawn.

Kim and Glenn Issacson of Ingleside came because, in part, they wanted to hear Keyes' views on reparations. Kim Issacson questioned why the party had to go out-of-state to find a candidate.

"He will be an outstanding senator. He was a great ambassador. The important issues are about jobs and literacy," said Julian Muskat of Waukegan.

Forest board names Hahn as Messerli's replacement

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Steven K. Messerli, executive director, was dismissed from the position of Lake County Forest Preserve District director, a position he has held since 1991.

"The Lake County Forest Preserve made great strides during the past decade and Messerli contributed greatly during that success. We will begin a search for a new executive director to help the Forest Preserve District continue to meet the needs of Lake county residents for open space, nature, outdoor recreation and education in the future," said Lake County Forest Preserve Chairman Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Ingleside).

Carter would not discuss specifics why Messerli left the position.

Tom Hahn, who leads the district's special projects and land acquisition efforts, was named interim director.

Hahn joined the Lake County Forest Preserve District in 1999 and has been instrumental in negotiating acquisition of nearly 4,500 acres of new Forest Preserve lands using bond referendum funds approved by voters in 1999 and 2000. He also secured $13.5 million of grants to acquire hundreds of acres of land.

Prior to joining the Forest Preserve District, Hahn served as Executive Director of CorLands, a nonprofit land conservation organization for 17 years. He also was Associate Director of the OpenLands Project, CorLands parent corporation, during that same period. He has an extensive background in open space planning, land acquisition, preservation and administration.

"Tom has the knowledge and skills needed to effectively work with the Board of Commissioners during this transition," said Bonnie Thomson Carter, Forest Preserve Board President. "He understands and is committed to the District's mission and will help us continue to meet the needs of Lake County residents for open space, nature, outdoor recreation and education in the future."

Board member Steve Carlson (R-Gurnee) praised the decision to name Hahn, citing Hahn's dedication to the job and sense of humor.

ROADWORK

"At one point (during the construction), it was hard to see out entrance," Burn said. "It's just gone on way too long. Compared to where we were, we're just broke."

Since the construction began, Burn said his business went from 17 part-time employees, to only six or seven—three of which are Burns, his wife and his mother.

Tony Maniscalco, owner of Paisan's Ristorante Italiano, 5101 Washington Street, said he has also seen a drop in business, with construction seemingly all around him.

Sierakowski said he understands the problem's people are having. He said he routinely receives messages and e-mails from people upset that the construction is inconveniencing them.

"We're trying to keep good open communication," Sierakowski said. "It will be a joy to finally complete the project."

Kids and sports: Playing it safe

With the school year fast approaching, kids are getting back to the books and enjoying all of their favorite extracurricular activities, including team sports. With sports injuries being one of the leading causes of Traumatic Brain Injuries (TBIs), knowing what precautions to take can help prevent serious brain injuries.

As reported by the Brain Injury Association of America, there are approximately 5.3 million Americans living with a disability caused by TBIs. In fact, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention states that in the United States alone, sports-related concussions have reached epidemic proportions.

How does this relate to children? TBIs are the number one cause of death and disability in children and adolescents in the United States. According to www.kidsource.com, more than 1 million children incur head injuries each year, but many who experience mild injuries never even consult with a medical professional after the incident. Atlantic NeuroSurgical Specialists (ANS), one of the Northeast's leading pediatric and adult Neurosurgery firms, has put together some information on preventing and recognizing TBIs.

"TBIs are one of the most common conditions I see as a neurosurgeon," notes ANS neurosurgeon, Brian Beyerl M.D. "Parents and coaches need to work together with children to ensure the safest playing conditions are being made available to today's youth," he adds. "Taking very simple precautions, such as wearing the proper protective gear, can help increase a child's safety."

Dr. Beyerl suggests some preventative measures and how to identify symptoms of TBIs:

Preventative Tips

- Make sure coaches are teaching the proper technique.
- Check playing equipment routinely for wear and tear.
- In contact sports, wear a protective mouth guard (must cover all teeth). The mouth guard can act as a shock absorber, if hit in an upward motion.
- In sports conditioning, pay close attention to the neck muscles. When these muscles are strengthened for sport activities, it can increase the amount of force required to cause injury, i.e. concussion.
- Appropriate protective gear must be worn to protect the head and neck, almost every sport has something that can be worn.

Recognizing the Symptoms

- Any clear fluid or blood coming from the ears or nose.
- Swelling of the scalp
- Severe headaches
- Vomiting occurs three or more times
- Blurred vision and/or dilated, unequal size of pupils
- Dizziness or inability to balance properly
- Incapable of responding to others, semi comatose state
- Paralysis or difficulty in moving body parts
- Body numbness or tingling sensation
- Ringing in the ears, changes in hearing quality

Getting Back to the Game

"When dealing with a TBI, it is very important to take the necessary precautions that the injury is fully healed before returning to play," states fellow ANS neurosurgeon, Johnathan Baskin, M.D. "There should be an open line of communication among the physician, athletic trainer, parent and injured person, so the athlete does not risk further injury," says Dr. Baskin. "Even if the patient is feeling 100 percent recovered, it is recommended he pass the appropriate physical before jumping back into the game."

By understanding the severity of a TBI, sports related injuries can decrease dramatically. "ANS is happy to evaluate patients with lingering head trauma symptoms," adds Baskin.

The simple pleasures of being a child

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi folks!

I wish I could take credit for what you are about to read, but I can't. My husband pulled this off of the Internet and thought it was really cute. I agree and want to share it with you. I would like to give credit to the writer, however, there was no name attached to it. So, to whomever wrote this, credit is due! Enjoy!

My Resignation!

I am hereby officially tendering my resignation as an adult. I have decided I would like to accept the responsibilities of an 8 year old again.

I want to go to McDonald's and think it's a four star restaurant. I want to sail sticks across a fresh mud puddle and make ripples with rocks. I want to think that M&Ms are better than money because you can eat them. I want to lie under a big oak tree and run a lemonade stand with my friends on a hot summer's day.

I want to return to a time when life was simple. When all you knew were colors, multiplication tables, and nursery rhymes, but that didn't bother you, because you didn't know what you didn't know and you didn't care! All you knew was to be happy because you were blissfully unaware of all the things that should make you worried or upset.

I want to think that the world is fair. That everyone is honest and good. I want to believe that anything is possible. I want to be oblivious to the complexities of life and be overly excited by the little things again.

I want to live simple again. I don't want my day to consist of computer crashes, mountains of paperwork, depressing news, how to survive more days in the month that there is money in the bank, doctor bills, gossip, illness and loss of loved ones.

I want to believe in the power of smiles, hugs, a kind word, truth, justice, peace, dreams, the Imagination, mankind and making angels in the snow.

So, here's my checkbook and my car keys, my credit card bills and my 401K statements. I am officially resigning from adulthood. And if you want to discuss this further, you'll have to catch me first, cause, Tag!— You're it!

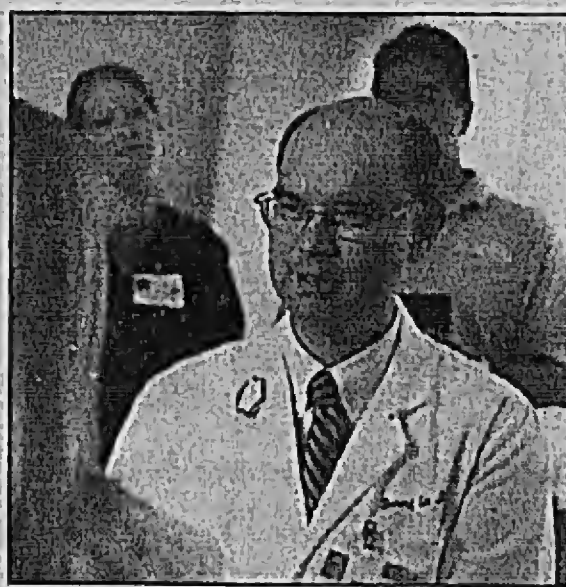

If we really want to, it is possible for each and every one of us to appreciate these kinds of things as adults. We may not be able to go back completely, but if we take time out to have the right focus, we can have those simple pleasures again.

Lake County Music and Kindermusik at Play!

Studios join forces to provide quality music education for Greater Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Area.

Beginning in September, Kindermusik at Play! Studios will be moving in with Lake County Music, located on the campus of the Central Baptist Children's Home, Mary Hess Center #3, in Lake Villa. Both businesses offer excellent opportunities for early childhood musical education and developmental learning. Kindermusik at Play! Studios is a whole-child musical education program which offers classes for newborns through pre-school. During the age-appropriate classes, children are exposed to different musical styles, tonal and rhythmic patterns, and various instrument play while focusing on various concepts such as long and short, up and down, fast and slow, or loud and quiet. "We use balls, hoops, scarves, jingle bells, rhythm sticks, et cetera, to enhance a child's overall development through music," stated Karen Gerold, Director of Kindermusik at Play! Studios. Kindermusik's curriculum is created by world-renowned child development and music experts. Parents will have the tools they need, such as quality music CDs and literature books, to continue their child's learning experience at home. Kindermusik at Play! Studios will begin their fall session on September 7 in the Lake County music building. Registration is currently being taken. Call 847-356-1290 or log on to www.kmplaystudios.com for class schedules and additional information regarding Kindermusik.

Lake County Music offers private instruction for voice, piano, guitar, percussion, violin and viola. September brings a new beginning flute choir class for students ages eight to ten who are interested in learning to play the flute. Beginning with the basics, developing a proper embouchure, tonal quality and fingering, the class will introduce basic melodies while supported in a group setting. They also offer "Music for Little Mozarts," an exciting music program which emphasizes the keyboard. Children, ages four to seven, develop rhythm, finger dexterity and note recognition. The class is presented in a fun and entertaining program, full of musical activities that help develop a sound basis in beginning music and instrumental instruction. For more information on these and other classes, contact Karen Mezich, Executive Director of Lake County Music, at 847-265-5713. Lake County Music is currently accepting new registration for fall enrollment.

ATTENTION PET OWNERS

We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway Animals

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.

*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.

*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.

*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

WAL-MART IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER, M/F/D/V
BALANCE LIFE FOR HEALTHY WORK

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Several years ago I read an article written by a hospital chaplain. He had been at the bedside of many people shortly before they died. His primary point was that although he had heard many people who regretted spending too much time at work, he had never heard anyone complain about spending too much time with family. Nor had he heard anyone complain about spending too much time golfing, fishing, or exercising.

From his perspective, people who are close to the end of life have a good understanding of priorities. He went on to surmise that much of our American society is skewed to work. We do not take our time for relaxation, as we ought. Nor do we spend time with our family and friends.

 Balance is important. Here are some ideas to help balance our daily work.

- Keep yourself healthy. Start an exercise program and learn how to eat a balanced diet. There are many books on nutrition. In addition, family doctors usually have information on eating correctly. Plan an exercise program. Start slowly and build up to a more challenging level. This program does not need to be costly. Walking, jogging, and bike riding are all good cardiovascular exercises. Calisthenics at home can significantly improve muscle tone. Health club memberships and expensive home equipment are not needed.

- Plan to spend time with family and friends. My family spends every Sunday evening together. My two best friends live about fifty miles from me. I have to plan time to be with them. Yes we can have relationships at work. But often those relationships are based on expectations. Family and friends, in a healthy relationship, accept us for who we are. There are few expectations. We need to spend time with those who love us unconditionally.

- Find hobbies. Unfortunately, too many of us come home from work exhausted; we gobble down a meal composed mainly of fat and cholesterol and spend the time before bed watching television. There is nothing wrong with watching a good movie or an occasional ball game. However, spending time doing productive activities that complement work helps to balance our lives.

- A carpenter who comes home and does woodworking as a hobby has missed the point. A computer programmer who comes home and builds web sites has missed the point. But a programmer who comes home and remodels his kitchen, or a carpenter who comes home and builds a family web site understands task balance.

- Give back to others by doing charitable work. The number of people who have contributed to my life is beyond counting. I feel an obligation to give back to others who have a need. And the truth be known, I grow significantly from those experiences. That growth manifests itself as an appreciation for others, as a feeling that I have helped another person, and through the joy of seeing others grow along with me.

A balanced life can make work more enjoyable. Exercise relieves stress. Good nutrition is the basis for physical and emotional well being. Spending time with others builds binding relationships with those who love us. Serving others and hobbies give a sense of self-fulfillment. Try balance. It will change your work perspective.

The ABCs

of Writing a
Classified ad that Works

Avoid Abbreviations.

A few accepted and recognizable abbreviations are OK, but an ad full of them just confuses the readers. They will go on to the next ad rather than decipher yours. A good rule of thumb is "Spell it out, or leave it out."

Be Available.

List your telephone number so that potential buyers will know how to contact you. State the best hours to call so they'll know when you can be reached.

Consider Your Readers.

Put yourself in the readers' place. If you were considering buying this item, what would you want to know about it?

Give the item's age, condition, size, color, brand name and any other important information needed to describe it completely and accurately. Sell the benefits of owning the item.

Don't Exaggerate.

Misleading information may bring potential buyers to your home but it will not help you make the sale. You'll lose the prospect's trust and faith as well as the sale.

Include the Price.

Price is one of the biggest concerns of classified shoppers. Ads that list prices will get their attention first. Including price also helps you avoid inquiries from callers not in your price range.

Legally fun

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakeandmedia.com

It's been a fun summer for kids, cops and volunteers in the greater Round Lake area and Lt. Vic Ligenza of the Round Lake Area Park District Police said he is sorry to see it come to a close.

"It's been a great summer and we have all had a lot of fun," said Ligenza.

For the fourth consecutive year, cops, church members, dedicated volunteers and employees of the Round Lake Area Park district have combined to make "summers of memories" for many children living in the Round Lake area community.

Each Friday night this summer, park district busses picked up children ages 9-15, at the Rosewood Apartments, Timber Creek Trailer Park, the Cedar Villas, Meadow Green and Cambridge Courts Trailer Park and transported the children to the park district for a fun night of swimming, or in some cases the busses took the children to Hook Lake in Round Lake Beach for some fishing, or some other fun event in the area.

The exciting program is called "Reach One" because the park district officials and the police officers believe that if they can reach one child with "good character" teaching when they young, the teaching will remain with them a lifetime.

What is unique is that the kids and cops really get to know each other during the summer and come to know each others as friends.

"Some of these children have never taken part in park district activities," Ligenza said. "And they really enjoy it."

During one Friday night over 100 children were treated to a night of fishing at Hook Lake.

And although over 35 kids were fishing on the pier at the same time nobody got hurt by flying hooks.

Amanda Peterson, 11, of Round Lake Beach, has been coming to "Reach One" for four years.

"I like it when we fish," Peterson said. "It's pretty cool. This year I even brought my own bait."

Paul Terrien, 11, of Round Lake, was also enjoying the fishing experience. "This is my fourth week here and it's pretty fun," Terrien said. "For me the most fun is playing games and running."

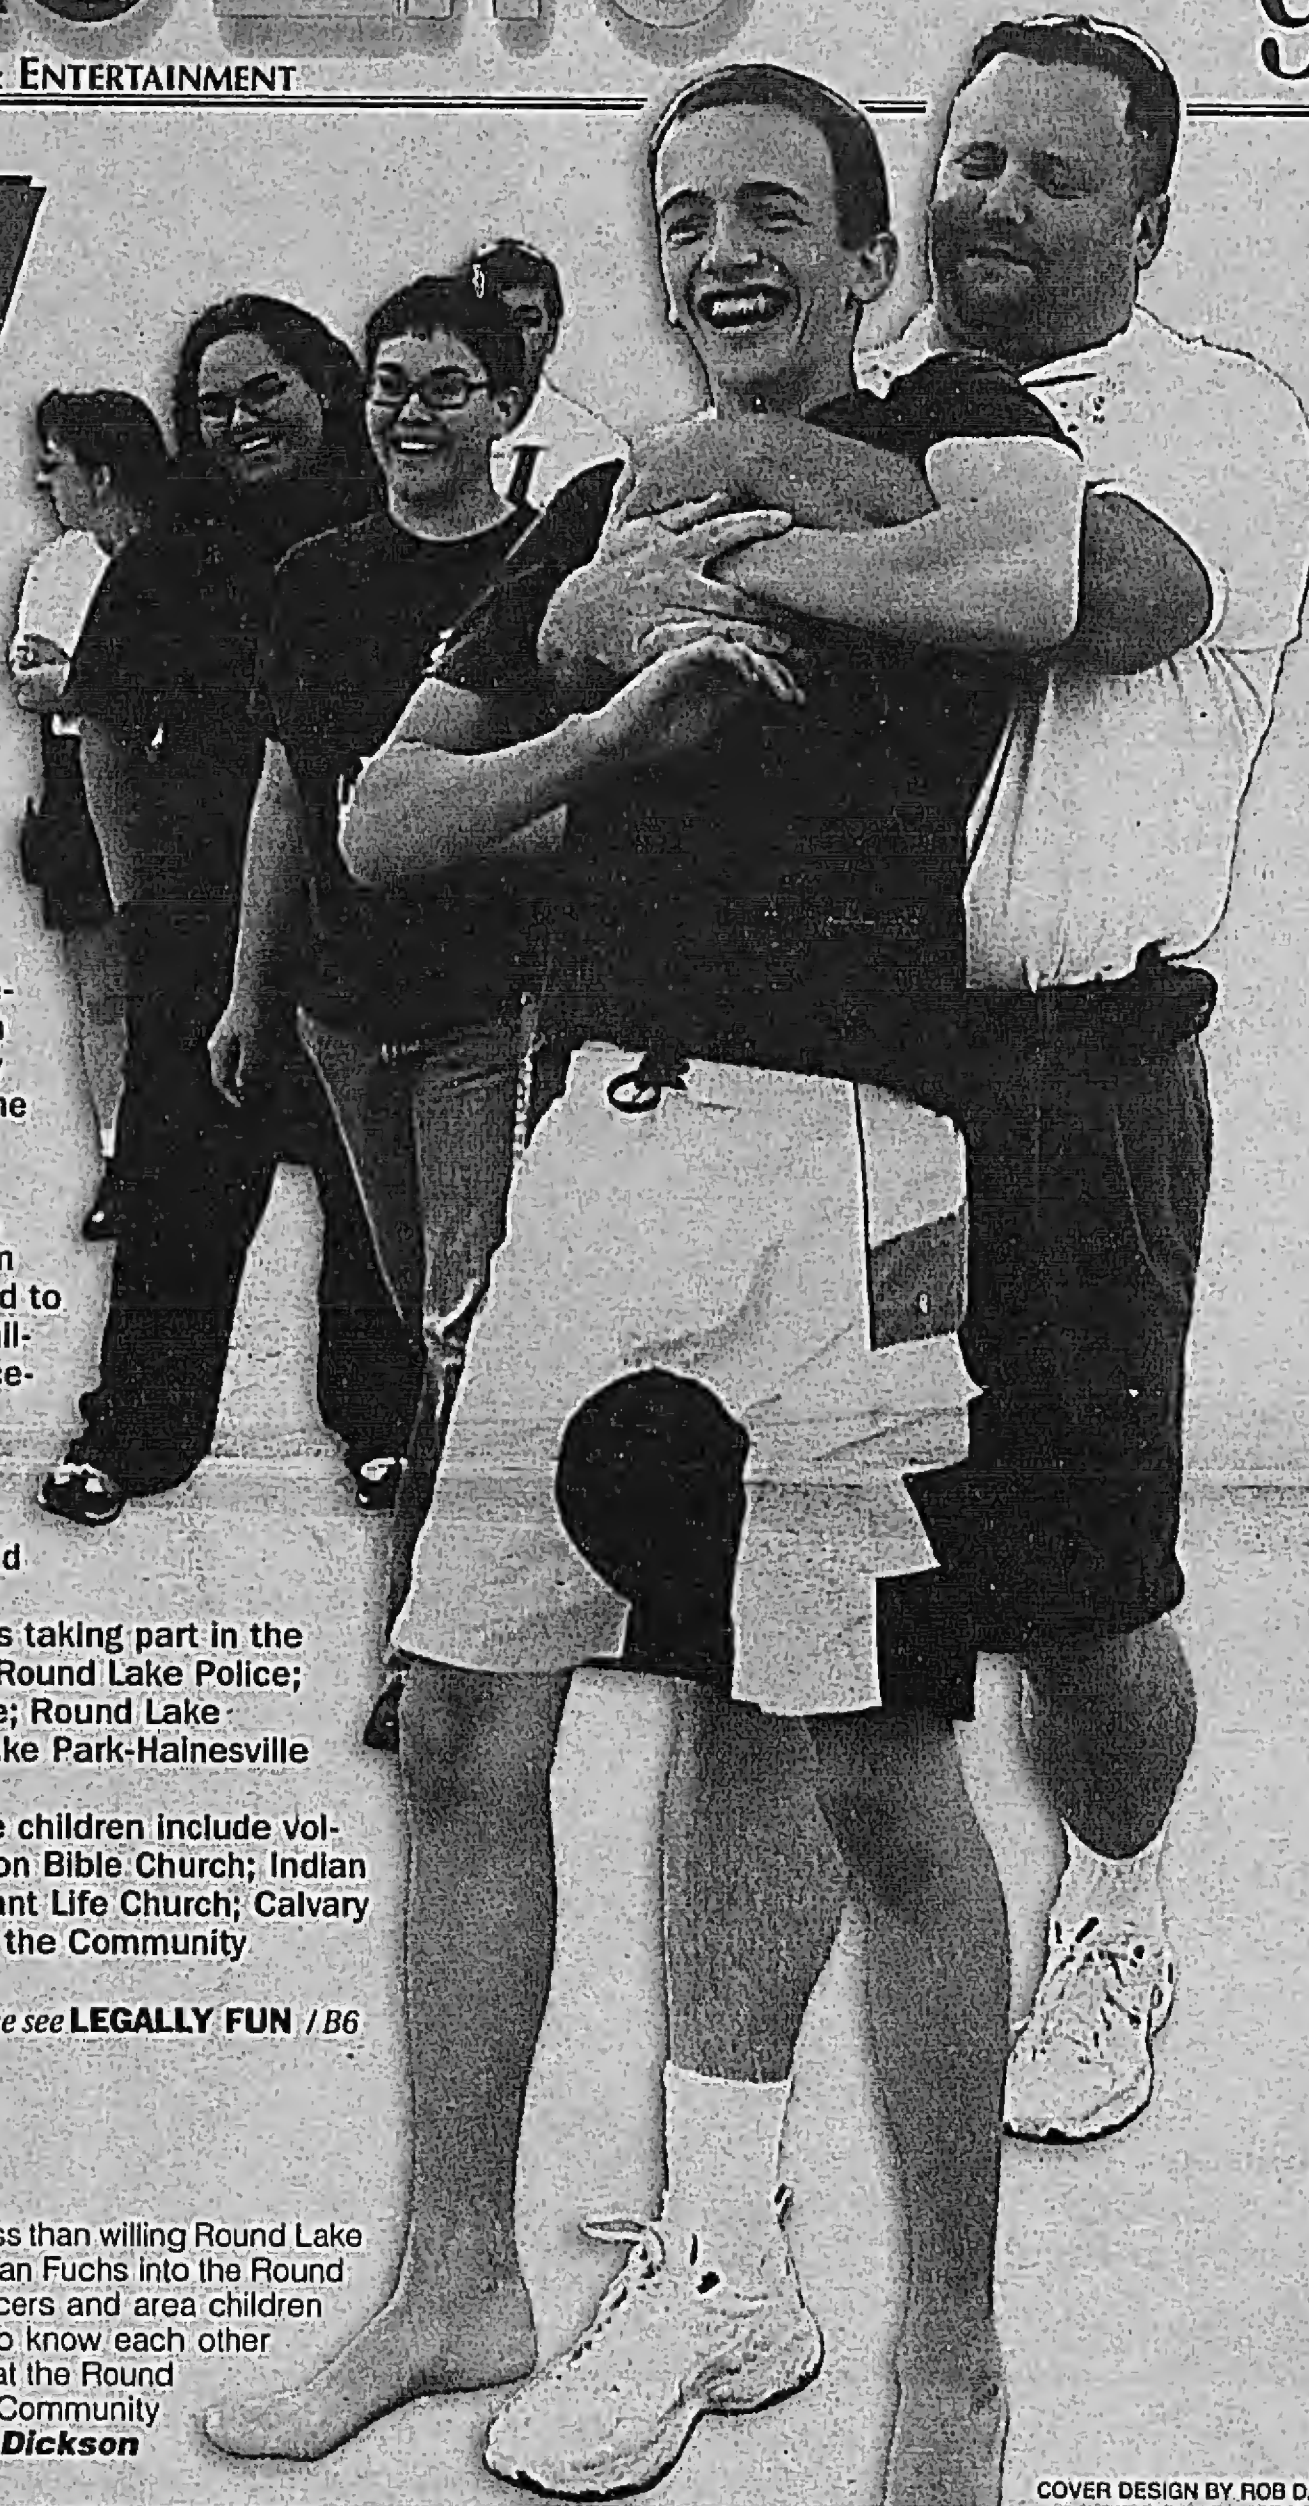

According to Ligenza, the "Reach One" program has over the years helped to build bridges between children and area law enforcement officers. The kids have enjoyed good food, swimming, theater, fishing, volleyball and much more with their new found police officer friends.

Participating agencies taking part in the summer fun include the Round Lake Police; Round Lake Beach Police; Round Lake Heights Police; Round Lake Park-Hainesville Police.

Providing food for the children include volunteers from Lakes Region Bible Church; Indian Hill Bible Church; Abundant Life Church; Calvary Presbyterian Church and the Community

Camera shy, sweet

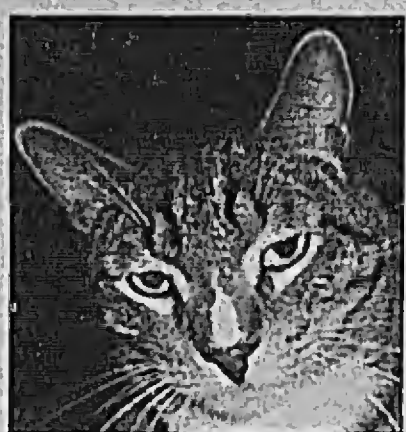

Bradley is an 18-month-old, Rottweiler with his full, wagging tail, hoping to find a home with someone who loves to play ball as much as he does. Joe Moore, a member of the kennel staff said (despite being camera shy), "He's very people friendly and good with kids. He just tries to be a big lap dog. I can't believe he's still here."

Looking for love

Usher has been looking for love in all the wrong places. Though a Save-A-Pet resident since he was 12 weeks old, this 4-year-old domestic brown tabby often gets overlooked for his scrappy nature where other cats are concerned has earned him private quarters, often unnoticed. Kris Hogan, feline caregiver, said, "Usher is really a great cat, he just wants to be the only one. People walk past his cage all the time." She said his behavior is all cat and that he prefers to come to people and is not really fond of belly rubs.

Save-A-Pet is located at 31664 N. Fairfield Road, Grayslake. It's closed on Tuesday, open 1-5 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1-8 p.m. on Thursday and 11 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. For more information, call 847-740-7788 or go to www.save-a-pet-il.org.

Glued to the TV

Though he's no couch potato, Fritzzy, owned by the Murphy family in Antioch, loves to watch television. This one-year-old toy poodle favors dog shows and Animal Planet's "Good Dog U" and "Breed All About It." His attention perks during commercials, as many have canine stars.

SPOTLIGHT OF THE WEEK

Kudos to...

Congratulations to Alexander Lundvall, of Antioch, who is a new junior member of the American Angus Association.

According to John Crouch, executive vice president of the national organization, junior members are eligible to register cattle in the association as well as participate in programs conducted by the National Junior Angus Association.

The American Angus Association is the largest beef registry association in the world and has more than 34,000 active and junior members that participate in its shows and both regional and national events.

Tribute to one honors all

BARKIN' UP A TREE

A tribute to one beloved pet can serve to honor all. While each pet owner has his or her own story, a common thread is the story of how "the first" forever changed their life.

Brian Janosch lost his friend and companion and wanted to share their story together.

Janosch said he got Gizmo, named for the movie "Gremlins," when he was 5 years old. He said the neighborhood kids were beating a path to his door to play with the new puppy, but it took him a while to warm up to his pet.

"While all the neighbors were picking him up and holding him, I sat by myself a little bit afraid of him," Janosch said. "But, my dad grabbed the puppy and put him in my lap, and from that point on we had a bond. For the past 14 years of my life, it's always been Gizmo and me."

He said his dog was perpetually happy and playful, a tail-wagger through and through.

Janosch said, "Memories stand out from every point in my life. From our old house where he used to chase my friends and me around the backyard for hours, to our first day in our new home when he was so excited that he kept slipping and sliding all across the tile floors. My first night away at college, Gizmo woke up my parents, obviously flustered, and led them into my room to make sure they knew I was gone."

Also a common thread with pet owners, Janosch said Gizmo had an uncanny knack to assess his mood and brighten his day.

He said, "I don't know how, but if I was in my room upset about one thing or another, I could always count on him poking his nose in on me and plopping down right next to me. After lying there with him for just a few minutes, everything would suddenly look better. Last night was the first time I ever laid next to that dog and it didn't make me feel better, simply because I knew it was the last time."

Janosch said he knows he's officially too old to believe in doggy heaven, but will hold that thought anyhow.

"Maybe I am a little too old to buy into that, but I do know that he's somewhere real nice just waiting," he said. "There won't be a heaven for me without Gizmo there, wagging his tail, just waiting to greet me."

Seeking shelter from the storms of life

Since Jesus Christ was a carpenter, have you ever wondered what he used to say when he hit his fingers with a hammer?

Well, neither had the "journalist" until he heard a preacher ask that very question. Surely, Jesus didn't say "Oh myself! That hurt!"

Anyway, the reason the "journalist" was in church was because he had just spent his two-week vacation roofing his house to keep out the rain and was hoping he might find some type of spiritual umbrella to keep the storms of life from dampening his spirit as he prepared to go back to work.

But as he was sitting in the middle of 5,000 people in the Willow Creek auditorium he was thinking that he should have just stayed home.

Only an official greeter had said "good morning" to him and he was feeling alone and was bored with the service.

But still he wondered about the stories behind the people sitting around him.

What about the Madonna look-alike sitting in the chair on his right?

Was she married or divorced? Was she happy or sad? Was she getting the things out of life that she craved?

And how about the Hulk Hogan-type bruiser of a man sitting on his left and who was taking up half of the "journalist's" chair?

Was he content knowing that he could beat up anybody in the church? Did he enjoy the fact that nobody would ever give him any lip? And were his steroid-enhanced muscles giving him everything he wanted out of life?

What about the tired-looking mother sitting in the chair in front of him trying to hush her three little boys squirming in their chairs? Why didn't she take them to the kids' Promised Land area? And where was the boys' father?

And how about the sharply dressed Sigmund Freud look-alike sitting in back of the "journalist"? Why did he look like he was going to cry? And was he psychoanalyzing the band and the preacher up on the stage?

And what about the preacher telling the audience that it is really better to give than to receive? And how could he tell the people that it's better to serve than to be served? Didn't that contradict every self-help book that the "journalist" had ever read?

And why does the band every movement seem choreographed?

Are they really worshipping God or just performing a mini Christian rock concert?

After the service the still depressed "journalist" went to the church's "Seeds Book Store" located on the second floor.

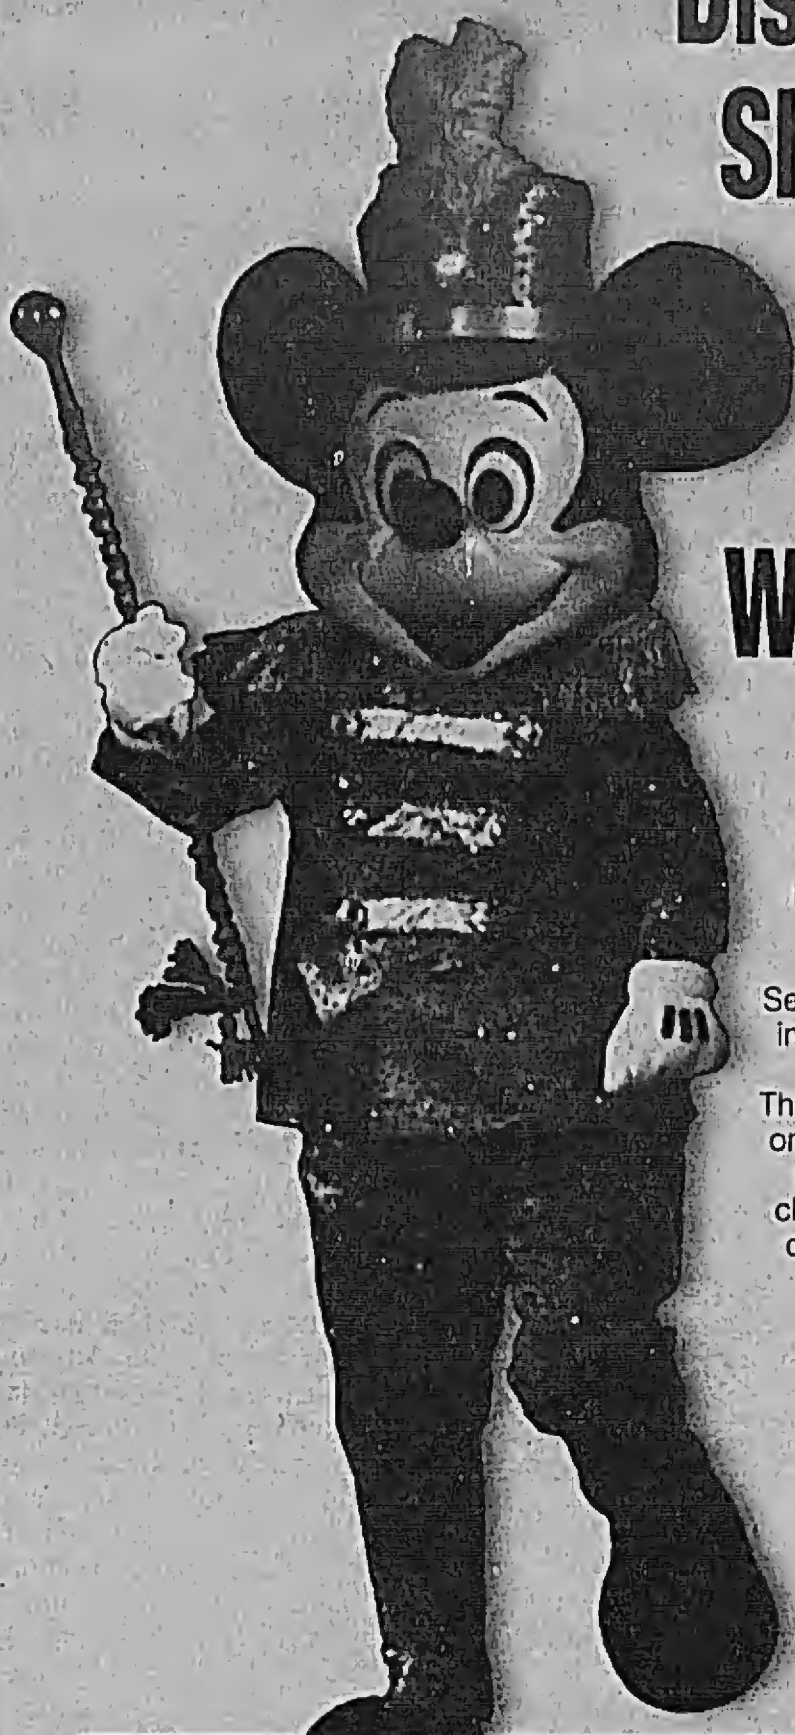

He timidly asked someone who looked like a clerk, "Do you by chance have any umbrellas?"

And the old man smiled, shook his head, and "no" was all he said.

Disney On Ice: Shimmering salute to Walt Disney

The mouse that started it all—Mickey—hosts "Disney On Ice celebrates Walt Disney's 100 Years of Magic," appearing Sept. 23-26 at the Allstate Arena in Rosemont, and Sept. 29-Oct. 3 at Chicago's United Center. The skating spectacular features one of the largest, multi-generational casts of beloved Disney characters ever. For tickets, log on to www.ticketmaster.com or call 312-559-1212.

Mickey, Minnie, Pinocchio, Jiminy Cricket, Buzz Lightyear, Woody, Mulan, Timon, Pumba and a host of Disney friends, including all the beloved princesses, are on their way to Chicago for the opening of "Disney On Ice celebrates Walt Disney's 100 Years of Magic." Tickets for this once-in-a-lifetime skating spectacular, on Sept. 23-26 at the Allstate Arena in Rosemont, and Sept. 29-Oct. 3 at Chicago's United Center, go on sale Friday, Sept. 3.

A multi-generational celebration in grand Disney tradition, "Walt Disney's 100 Years of Magic," features the largest cast of Disney stars ever assembled for a Disney On Ice production, a sing-along score of Academy Award-winning music, cutting-edge choreography, and elaborate, eye-dazzling sets and costumes. Disney's captivating characters and unforgettable stories—from the classic "Pinocchio" to recent favorites "Lion King," "Mulan" and "Toy Story," make this commemorative salute to the legacy of Walt Disney a whirlwind tour of magical memories for the entire family.

That mouse that started it all—Mickey—and his pal, Jiminy Cricket, host the extravagant celebration full of breathtaking pair skating, moving solos and tremendous production numbers by Emmy Award-winning choreographer Sarah Kawahara, who has worked with Michelle Kwan and choreographed the skating segment in the Opening Ceremonies at the 2002 Olympics.

Broadway scenic designer David Potts creates the taste of theater on ice to showcase Disney's most extraordinary moments, from animated features to the theme parks, and even Goofy's comic "Salute to Sports." Skaters bring "It's a Small World" to life in sparkling floats that turn into a radiant light parade; a blanket of snow and an avalanche fall as Mulan battles the Huns; and wooden toys are alive in Geppetto's workshop, thanks to a flowing blue fairy.

Tickets for "Disney On Ice celebrates Walt Disney's 100 Years of Magic" will be available at the Allstate Arena Box Office, 6920 N. Mannheim Road in Rosemont, or the United Center Box Office, 1901 W. Madison St., Chicago, all Ticketmaster locations, and on the web at www.ticketmaster.com. To order tickets by phone, call 312-559-1212.

Prices are $11, $18, and $23, with a limited number of $45 VIP seats available. All Opening Night tickets at the Allstate Arena and United Center will be $10, excluding VIP seats. Groups, call 847-891-8916 for Allstate Arena tickets or 312-455-7469 for United Center tickets. For general show information, call the Allstate Arena at 847-635-6601 or the United Center at 312-455-4500. To learn more about Disney On Ice log on to www.disneyonice.com.

Mom's summer hideaway

I love my neighbors. I really do. Especially when they go away.

You see I've wormed my way into their good graces so they trust me to house sit when they're gone. They don't realize it's like handing your car keys to a parking valet who then speeds off to pick up half the senior class on the way to the "Slop 'n Slurp" drive-in.

Yep, my neighbors think they're waving goodbye to a selfless Good Samaritan. Little do they know I'm actually champing on the bit to turn their premises into a hideaway from the summer action films my kids are re-enacting at home.

For example, this week I'm using the vacant empty nesters' digs for my afternoon retreat. Their serene, orderly environment is the perfect escape from the creative carnage going on at my house. I hunker down in their pristine lounge chair with three sedate cats, trying not to feel guilty about our poor, frazzled feline fending off kids' attempts to turn him into Catwoman.

Leslie Clazier-Werner
LES ON LIFE

At least these folks also have a collection of fine literature to distract me, although it's a little beyond me. (I'm better off sticking with newspaper columns.) Still, I stretch myself by cracking open "Advanced Pharmacology" or "The Construction Guide For Gas Usage." Then I'm sure to nod off in no time.

Also, this week, I'm enjoying the amenities at the four-star accommodations across the street. For one, they have a pool (and I don't even have to blow it up). So I fantasize I'm vacationing in some exotic locale...as I drift along in my slenderizing, earthquake-reinforced bathing suit, and laughingly banter with the jet-setting spaniel watching next door.

But most of all, I like pretending I'm the courageous horsewoman living here. (She even has the guts to hang a welcome sign that reads: "Chaos, Panic and Disorder: My Work Here Is Done.") I just hope I haven't stretched out her riding britches from trying them on.

Anyway, I should take them off before I sit down to peruse her reading material. Finally, something suitable for me to digest while I absently grab a "Nickers Bar." The natural treat your horse will love to eat. One bite, and I can barely hold back tears of admiration as I thumb through masterpieces like, Dave Barry's Gift Guide To End All Gift Guides. (For instance, I know there's got to be at least one fisherman who'd agree Dave's "Worm Blower" is a "thoughtful gift idea for any man who is concerned about the size and perkiness of his worm.")

Speaking of gifts, here's the real capper. On top of this, my neighbors bring me back presents. By the way Pam, thanks for promising me that Kentucky Bourbon straight from horse country. I think I'll need it after you read this.

Coffee semifreddo a worthy addition to dessert repertoire

COOKING BY THE BOOK

Some can't resist an occasional salty snack, while for others a bit of cheese and fresh fruit says it all. A sweet tooth has always called out to us.

But because we recognize the importance of eating sensibly, yielding to all things sweet is a constant struggle. With moderation as the watchword, however, it's possible to indulge occasionally without overindulging.

"Dolcissimo: Delicious Sweet Dishes from Italy" (Ryland Peters & Small, 2004), a slim volume by food writer and cooking teacher Maxine Clark, is a wonderful resource for times when the craving for a sophisticated treat must be answered. She provides easy-to-follow recipes for such pleasures as miniature Sicilian cannoli, fresh fruit tart and warm zabaglione with pears poached in Marsala wine. For something cool and rich, we recommend her version of Coffee Semifreddo with Espresso.

Be forewarned: The accompanying photography alone, by Jean Cazals, is enough to add a few extra calories.

Coffee Semifreddo with Espresso

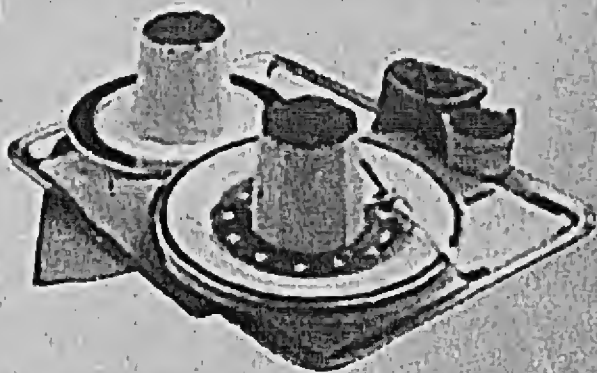

- 1 1/2 cups ricotta cheese, room temperature
- 1 1/2 cups mascarpone cheese, room temperature
- 1 Tbl. dark rum
- 3 Tbl. coffee liqueur (such as Tia Maria or Kahlua)
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract
- 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar, or to taste
- 2 Tbl. finely ground espresso roast coffee

• Put the ricotta and mascarpone in a bowl, and beat with a wooden spoon. (Do not attempt to do this in a food processor or the mixture will be too runny.) • Beat in the rum, coffee liqueur, vanilla extract and confectioners' sugar. • Fold in the ground espresso so that the mixture is marbled. • Carefully spoon into the ice cream molds or ramekins, piling the mixture high. • Freeze for 2 hours. • Transfer to the refrigerator 15-20 minutes before serving to soften slightly. • The mixture should be only just frozen or very chilled. • Just before serving, dip the molds quickly in warm water and invert into chilled shallow bowls. • Serve immediately with tiny cups of espresso for guests to pour over the semifreddo.

To serve

- Softly whipped cream
- 6-8 tiny cups of hot espresso coffee
- Bittersweet chocolate wafers
- 6-8 flexible ice cream molds or small ramekins

(Serves 6 to 8)

CHICKEN STRUEDEL

- 2 whole chicken breasts, boned, cooked, skinned, finely chopped
- 1/2 cup scallions, finely chopped
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1/4 tsp. tarragon
- 4 eggs, beaten
- salt to taste
- pepper to taste
- 8 leaves filo pastry
- melted butter
- bread crumbs

Combine chicken, scallions, parsley, tarragon, eggs, salt and pepper. Mix well. On large damp towel, place 1 filo leaf and brush with butter and sprinkle lightly with bread crumbs. Top with another filo leaf. Repeat procedure until a stack of four leaves is prepared.

Spread half the chicken mixture down the center of filo in a strip, leaving 1 inch at each end. Fold in edges and, using the towel, roll up leaves. Place on buttered baking sheet, seam side down. Brush with melted butter.

Repeat procedure with remaining ingredients to make second strudel. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven until golden brown, about 20 minutes. Serve warm or at room temperature, sliced into serving pieces.

(serves 6 to 8)

Micro-Minute

Ok, glad to see you back! Now, the focus will be on dips for the armchair quarterbacks. The first one is...

Onion Cheese Dip

About 2-1/2 cups

"This quick-to-fix appetizer saves the day when company's coming at the last minute and we want to make 'em feel special. Let them think you fussed—only you will know the simple truth!" Here it is...

- 1 medium-sized sweet onion, finely chopped
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese (see Options below)
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

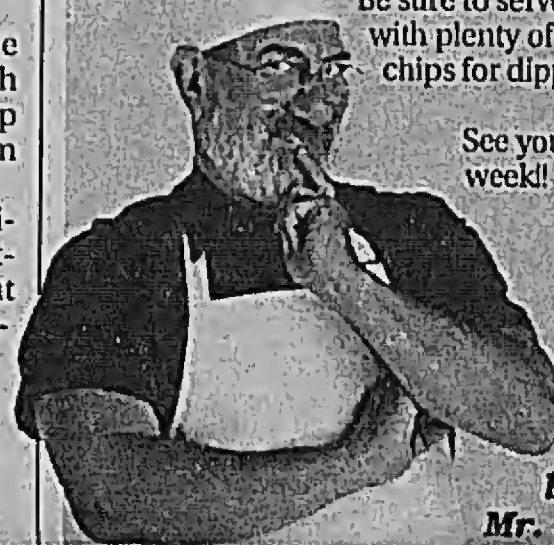

1) Coat a microwave-safe medium-sized bowl with nonstick cooking spray. Add the onion, and microwave at 80% power for 3 minutes; stir then cook for 2 more minutes, or until the onion is tender. Add the remaining ingredients; mix well.

2) Cover, and microwave at 50% power for 3 minutes, or until bubbly and the cheese is melted. Serve immediately.

OPTIONS: This recipe is so versatile that you can use almost any shredded cheese in here, from Cheddar and Monterey Jack to mozzarella.

Be sure to serve this with plenty of corn chips for dipping.

See you next week!

The Adler Institute of Music within the David Adler Cultural Center located in Libertyville welcomes Lanialoha Lee-Sumberg on Sunday, Aug. 29 at 3 p.m.

Carole Lanialoha Lee-Sumberg was born in Chicago with Hawaiian ancestry dating back to the time of the Mahele (Land Division). In 1987, during a temporary residence in Florida, she performed as a set and to're drummer, a vibre player, a bassist and a vocalist with various Polynesian productions which featured some of the best artists from the South Pacific.

Venues included Hawaiian Inn Hotel of Daytona Beach Shores, Sea World of Orlando and Disney World of Kissimmee. Upon her return to Chicago, her career continued as a bassist performing with 'Ulele (Influenced by music of cultures from around the world), What the Funk, and other local groups playing contemporary & traditional Hawaiian and Jazz standards, touring with her own productions and Midwest area Polynesian troupes. In 1996 she joined the teaching staff of The Old Town School of Folk Music where her schedule has grown from a single 'ukulele class to a series of Pacific Island classes that include 'Ukulele, Hula (ancient and modern styles), Tahitian Drumming and 'Ori Tahiti (Tahitian dance styles). Blunt 'Monologues' gets mixed response from Metropolis audience

CRITIC'S CHOICE

By Tom Witom

Eve Ensler's sometimes funny but often strident call to sexual awareness, "The Vagina Monologues," has racked up a lot of mileage since it was first staged in 1997.

It has played in hundreds of productions in more than 30 countries, and now the 90-minute show based on interviews with some 200 women has come to the Metropolis Performing Arts Centre stage, where it is in rotation with Rob Becker's "Defending the Caveman." Lauren Rawitz directs.

Uninhibited and verbally graphic, "Monologues" is self-indulgent and defies easy categorization; it's variously described as a mix of stand-up comedy, '70s feminist group therapy, shocking political outcry — and part-theater.

A first-rate cast—Tanya Canaday, Melissa Fosse-Dunne, Lucinda Johnston and Donna Steele—handles multiple characters. For example, there's the elderly Jewish lady who speaks with hesitancy about her a distressing introduction to sex and the former tax attorney who found her true calling as a lesbian dominatrix sex worker.

On Stage

"Monologues" offers a free-for-all on topics rarely discussed in polite company, let alone with men present in the room. There's venting against the makers of tampons as well as the uncomfortable apparatus used during gynecological exams.

The genital mutilation of young girls in certain societies is discussed. In one of the production's strongest scenes, there's a disturbing recounting of a Bosnian prisoner's brutal rapes.

One bit that starts out as amusing but quickly grows tiresome involves a character offering a broad spectrum of orgasmic moans. Later, there's a moving sketch involving the birth process.

Meanwhile, offbeat questions asked of the cast punctuate the show, from "If your vagina got dressed, what would it wear?" to "If your vagina could talk, what would it say, in two words?"

Opening night, audience members (and this is definitely geared toward women) showed mixed reactions ranging from enthusiasm to boredom. "Vagina Monologues" just doesn't seem to live up to its hype.

Green Youth Farm: Growing future farmers and gardeners

While a variety of fruits and vegetables are grown at Green Youth Farm, the main crop is knowledge, experience and pride for 20 teenagers in the North Chicago-Waukegan region.

The Chicago Botanic Garden oversees an eight-week summer apprenticeship program, which also includes time after-school and on Saturdays in the fall, for high school students to foster their interest in horticulture, agriculture and green entrepreneurship. The farm itself is on over an acre of land in the Greenbelt Forest Preserve off Green Bay Road in North Chicago. Participants are trained in plant and crop science, as well as business practices.

The program, which began in 2003, has been made possible through a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Cooperative State Research, Education and Extension Service (USDA-CSREES). Program partners include Growing Power, Inc., a company involved in sustainable agriculture through the creation of locally produced, processed, marketed and distributed food, and the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

"The high school students in this program come away with real-world work experience, a great deal of learning and the ability to make a positive impact on their community," said Angela Mason, program coordinator, Chicago Botanic Garden. "While weeding, watering, planting and harvesting, they learn about being part of a team."

Several graduates from last year's program act as peer leaders, mentoring and leading four crews of new participants. Job shadowing and field trips boost students' understanding of sustainable gardening, vermicomposting, urban farming and various green businesses. The youth sell crops at the Grayslake farmers' market on Wednesdays, the farm's u-pick-it market on Saturdays in August and the Chicago Botanic Garden's Harvest Market on Oct. 2-3. Each crew, with a chef's help, is responsible for preparing and hosting a community lunch using fresh produce from the farm. Participants then eat together and discuss various healthy eating topics with guidance from professional nutritionists.

Green Youth Farm program offers potential links to scholarship opportunities and apprenticeships in horticulture and agriculture. Klick hopes to see the program expanded to other locations in the Chicago area, encouraging the next generation of horticulturists.

The Chicago Botanic Garden has provided leadership in urban greening and horticulture to the Neighborhood Gardens program for 23 years. The Chicago Botanic Garden's Neighborhood Gardens program helps organizations and schools in underserved areas establish and improve gardens on their sites. Community and school gardens are built to beautify surroundings, grow fresh produce, serve as teaching models, and act as catalysts for community development and environmental stewardship. Since 1981, the Garden has been involved in more than 220 community gardens. In 2004, 30 sites will receive support, including 11 suburban schools and one suburban community garden (which will serve as a shelter/soup kitchen).

The Chicago Botanic Garden is a 385-acre living museum owned by the Forest Preserve District of Cook County and managed by the Chicago Horticultural Society. The Garden is open every day of the year, except Dec. 25, from 8 a.m. to sunset. The Chicago Botanic Garden is located on Lake Cook Road in Glenview, one-half mile east of the Edens Expressway. General admission is free; select event fees apply. Non-members of the Chicago Botanic Garden pay $10 for parking. On Tuesdays, senior citizens age 62 and older pay $5.75 for parking. The Chicago Botanic Garden is accredited by the American Association of Museums and is a member of the American Association of Botanical Gardens & Arboreta and the Association of Science-Technology Centers. The Garden's Web site is www.chicagobotanic.org.

LEGALLY FUN

Church of Round Lake.

Participation averages about 100 kids per evening.

"Last year, over the course of the program, attendance grew from 34 kids on our first night to 112 kids on its final night," said Peggy Dohr, Assistant Executive Director of the Park District. "At the end of each session, the children were eagerly asking 'What are we doing next week?'"

Great plans are already being made for the summer of 2005, but the success of this valuable program is dependent on donations of time and money from the community. The average cost to continue to fund the entire program at its current level is projected to be about $10,000. To donate to the program call Peggy Dohr at 847-546-8558.

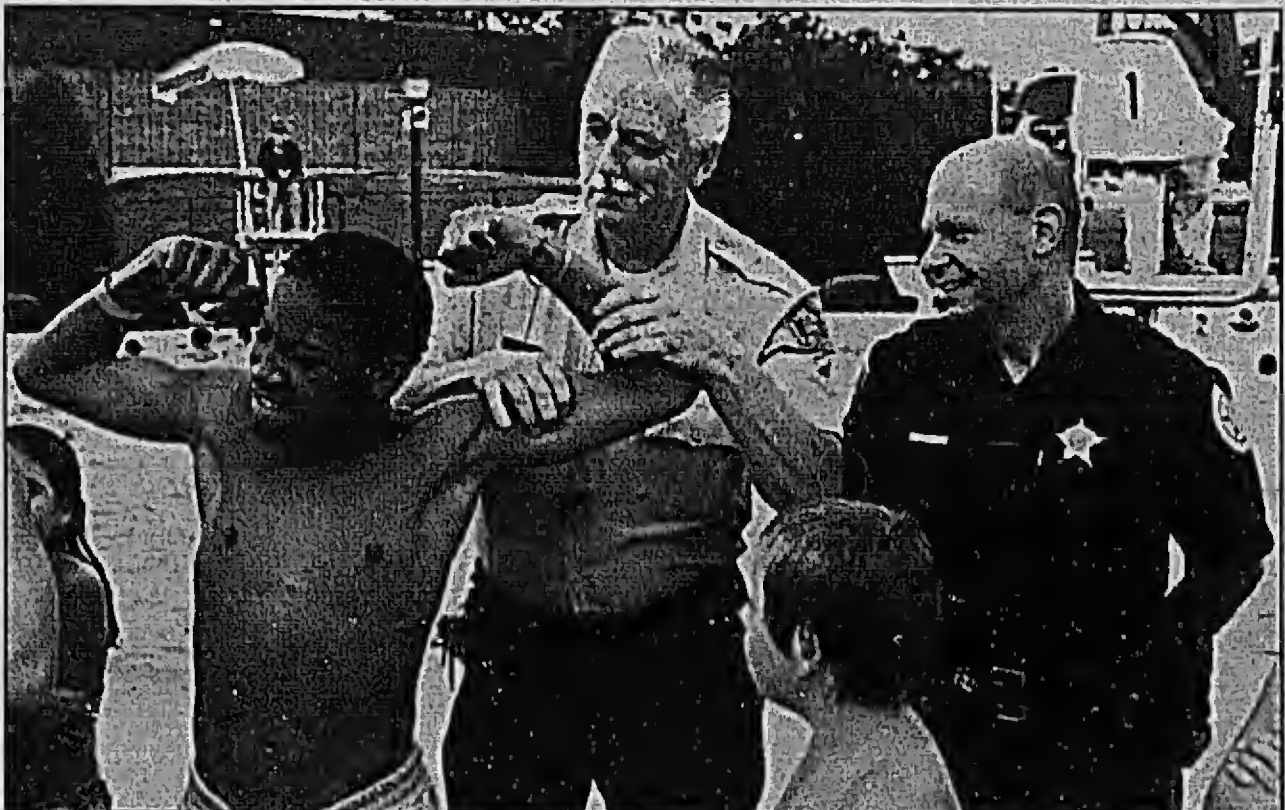

"As our community grows, this program needs to grow," said Dohr. "Reach

One" gives kids the chance to enjoy their childhood in a way that might not be accessible to them in their everyday life.

The "Reach One" program started in the summer of 2001 as an idea by then Round Lake Park Executive Director Jim Rock and his board of commissioners and staff members who wanted all of the children in the community to be a part of the fun at the park district.

Along with then Park District Police Chief Mike Grelsz, and then Child-Development Center Manager Peggy Dohr and then Superintendent of Recreation George Alexoff, they came up with a plan to pick up and bus children ages 9-15 to different events every Friday night.

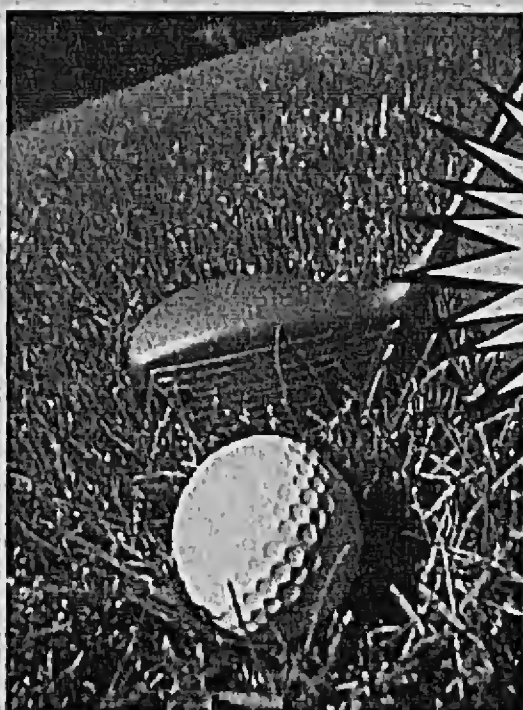

And although Rock, Grelsz and Alexoff are no longer with the park district, the program continues to thrive.

Louis Moneyham, 15, of Round Lake shows off his muscles to Lieutenant Victor Ligenza of the Round Lake Area Park District and Brian Peters an officer with the Round Lake Beach Police. Police officers and children came together at the Round Lake Area Park District swimming pool to have fun and for a chance to get acquainted outside of police work. — Photo by John Dickson

Rosenstrasse: Inter marriage is often thought of as being between a white person and one of color. In Berlin 1943, Aryan wives and mothers saw their Jewish husbands and children rounded up on a street called Rosenstrasse for deportation to concentration camps and certain death. Based upon a true story and told from a German point of view, this film tells the story of how these courageous women fought to save the lives of their loved ones. (PG-13)

Thomas (Aaron Eckhart) is a big city FBI agent back from a suspension for using excessive force to capture a suspected serial killer. Recently reassigned to a small town office in New Mexico, he is regarded as a hotshot loser. When a traveling salesman is found murdered in his car, with his auto literally on the line of two states, the message that the killer is making this an interstate crime so the FBI will become involved initiates the suspense of the film.

There are real bad guys here who are serial killers and tough guy Ben (Ben Kingsley) appears to be after them. But is he also out to get Thomas? As Thomas works to solve the murder of the salesman, along with some recent kidnappings of children, FBI agent Fran (Carrie-Anne Moss), his former lover is sent to assist him.

Key clues with each crime are numbers that relate to GPS (global positioning system) coordinates. Thomas experiences flashes of vivid insight into scenes involving deaths, much like a psychic and uses those clues to investigate the crime. Over time, Thomas's ability to make a mental connection with Ben increases dramatically. There is a calculated reveal that Ben is a former FBI agent, trained in a once clandestine government program called "remote viewing."

The serial killers in this film are people that we as viewers are not able to care about. They tend to be cardboard or stock characters. To be a good villain, the character needs to reach a part of the dark side in us. A recent example of this was Tom Cruise in "Collateral."

Ben Kingsley is effective to a degree in this regard, but maybe his performance is "too good," in that peeking into the mind of a talented former FBI agent who loses himself to his insanity and his zeal to punish, makes you not want to know that person. Fans of the dark side of human nature such as portrayed in "Silence of the Lambs" may enjoy this film. Ben Kingsley wears the bad guy persona much as he did in "Sexy Beast".

Low carb 'Silence of the Lambs'

Carrie-Anne Moss sheds her action role from the "Matrix" series and returns to the moodiness of "Memento." Aaron Eckhart is the over-the-top cop who does not fulfill the neurotic nuance as Denzel Washington was able to achieve in "Manchurian Candidate."

George's Take: The film was unnecessarily confusing to follow at times and if the end had a better payoff, it may have redeemed itself. We are ok with bad guys getting away with murder (literally) or if they get their comeuppance, we want to have a sense that some type of justice was achieved. In this case, "Suspect Zero" got off so easy that it makes an opponent of the death penalty want to electrocute somebody.

Pam's Take: It's certainly not easy to convey the idea of "remote viewing" to someone. Try to put it together for an interesting, cohesive and entertaining couple of hours of entertainment and your work is cut out for you as a storyteller. But most of us have experienced déjà vu. You know, where you feel like "I've lived this scenario, I know what's going to happen next." Now, suppose those images were horrific and overtook your consciousness non-stop. Where do you suppose your mind might go next?

Bottom line is that "Suspect Zero" is a good movie that did not satisfy.

Interview with Joshua Marston and Catalina Sandino Morero of 'Maria Full of Grace'

By George Singleton

Joshua Marston and Catalina Sandino Morero, the director and lead actress in the film "Maria, Full of Grace," were in Chicago recently to promote the coming of age film of a young woman who is a drug smuggler between Colombia and New York City.

George Singleton: In referring to the role of Orlando (an "arranger" for recent immigrants from Colombia in NYC), I asked Joshua Marston... When did Orlando become part of the story? Was he a part of the script from the beginning or was he added later?

Joshua Marston: After a meeting regarding financing the film, I was asked if I had talked to the Mayor of Little Colombia (Jackson-Heights Queens). I did not know who that was. He was also referred to as the "undertaker" for the mules (people who sometimes die transporting drugs in their bodies). He allowed me to sit in his office and see what he does. This allowed me to work on the second half of the script and to learn what the Colombian community was about. I knew that to properly represent that community, he needed to be a part of the story.

The budget for the film was $3 million. Although many said they liked the script, calling it a page-turner, the money was not forthcoming until HBO got involved. They were intrigued by the fact that it was in Spanish. I'm indebted to them for having the vision to support us in that they allowed us to make the movie we wanted to make.

Catalina Sandino Morero: Prior to this film, I had not worked before (she was a student). In Colombia the knowledge of drug mules is very superficial. I was surprised to be cast in the film because it was my first acting role and I'd been turned down for auditions I had done for commercials.

JM: One of the things we wanted to do was make a realistic film that had characters painted with depth and dimension. They are not simply good or bad. Being a drug mule is something that is morally ambiguous. We also root for Maria, but she is doing things that constantly test our sympathy for her. In real life, you have friends that test your tolerance.

GS: How realistic is the situation with respect to the extended family living together and the working conditions to earn a living?

JM: There are people with lives at all levels... some very poor and others that are doing much better. The best thing about making films is that you get a chance to become an anthropologist.

CSM: Thank god I went to a flower plantation because I was able to learn a little more about Maria.

Catalina Sandino Morero won the best actress award at the Berlin film festival and the film won the audience award at Sundance. They did not expect to win anything, especially in Berlin. The plan was to just have a good time and come home. When Catalina Sandino Morero explained that it was unbelievable and amazing that she won, although the words would be trite from many, in this case it was not only sincere, but also a thrill to share in the excitement, which clearly warms their hearts. When you see the film, you'll share in that joy as well.

Mark Davis, president of the Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation. "This program is an extension of our long-standing commitment to college education throughout the United States. These fine students, who often juggle school, work and family, continue to give back to their communities through volunteer service."

Outdoor

Naturalist course

The Earth's history—its geologic and biologic history—is the foundation of human history. This fall, beginning on Friday, Sept. 10, the Lake Forest Open Lands Association (LFOLA) presents an innovative, site-oriented course that will explore both the history and modern living communities of three of its most scenic and popular nature preserves. The course is open to all interested adults.

Entitled "Natural History of the Lake Forest Open Lands," the course will be taught by local author (Geolog Underfoot in Illinois, 1997) and Lake Forest College Biology faculty member Raymond Wiggers. Mr. Wiggers, who has taught more than 60 geology, botany, and soil-science courses at the college and adult-education venues in the past half-decade, will focus in this course on three classic North Shore habitats: tall-grass prairie, savanna, and ravine.

This groundbreaking example of integrative science education for the public is not just for Lake Forest residents. It will have broad significance to every curious mind interested in learning more about the natural world of the Upper Midwest.

The course runs from 9:30 a.m. to noon on three Fridays this fall: Sept. 10, Oct. 1, and Nov. 5. To enroll or to receive more information, contact Ms. Jeremy Battson, LFOLA Director of Education, at jbatson@lfol.org or 847-482-1928, or visit Web site www.lfol.org/programs_public.html. Rummage Sale

September rummage sale

Immaculate Conception Parish (IC), Highland Park Presbyterian Church (HPPC), and Trinity Episcopal (TE) announce their annual "Three Church Rummage Sale," which will take place at all three churches on Friday, Sept. 10, from 7 a.m.-7 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 11, from 8 a.m.-noon. All three churches are located in Highland - IC is located at 770 West Deerfield Road, HPPC is at 330 Laurel Avenue and TE is at 425 Laurel Avenue.

This year's sale will include clothing, housewares, linens, books, toys, furniture, lawn equipment, sports equipment, holiday items, jewelry, antiques, treasures, plants and baked goods, and much more. According to HPPC Rummage Sale Chair Tami Block, HPPC is incorporating its music sale into the rummage sale for the first time this year. HPPC's sale includes several items of interest including a unicycle, a saxophone and drum, and a large collection of high-end vintage women's clothing. IC has received a couple of pianos, two large entertainment centers, a couch valued at $2,000 and several antique trunks, which will be sold at the rummage sale.

Trinity Episcopal is reinstating the rummage sale this year after an eight-year absence. The TE rummage sale will include household goods, clothing, furniture, books, decoratives, collectibles and more. Proceeds for the TE sale will go to general church funds, including building maintenance.

All goods are sold at low, reasonable prices, with proceeds going to the churches. Also of note is the bag sale, which occurs the last two hours of the sale from 10 a.m.-noon on Saturday, Sept. 11.

For more information call 847-831-4558.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

You have a lot on your mind this week, Aries, and it has you on edge. Don't take your anxiety out on your loved ones. They just want to help you. Take some time for yourself to sort your thoughts out. An acquaintance offers to help you with a personal problem. Say no, because he or she is really just snooping around.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

You face a difficult family situation late in the week, Taurus. Be strong; everyone is counting on you to help make things better. If you keep your emotions in check for a while, you'll work things out. That special someone buys you something special. Let him or her know how much this means to you.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You're in for a treat this week. Friends and loved ones show you how much they appreciate all that you do. Enjoy yourself. A close friend asks for your advice about a romantic problem. Be honest with him or her; don't just blurt out clichés. Virgo plays an important role.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

You face several challenges this week, Cancer. However, don't back down. If you stay determined, you most definitely can succeed at each one of them. Those around you will be impressed with your accomplishments. A friend introduces you to someone very interesting. Just be yourself, and you're sure to gain a new friend.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Don't let your pride get in the way of apologizing for a mistake that you make early in the week. Everyone slips up once in a while. It doesn't mean that you aren't a very capable person. Keep your chin up. Things will get much better soon. Scorpio plays an important role on Friday.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Look at all of your options before making an important financial decision this week. You work too hard for your money to make a hasty choice. Remember, you can ask for help. You meet up with an old friend at the end of the week. Spend some time with him or her. You'll be surprised at what you learn.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Even though you might not want to hear what family members have to say, listen to them. They're just looking out for you. Take their advice. A date late in the week turns out to be all that you're hoping for and more. This is the start of a lasting relationship.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

A business associate tries to pull the wool over your eyes when it comes to an important project, Scorpio. Don't let him or her. You know how things are supposed to go. Take control of the situation. Your superiors will be impressed with your efforts. That special someone has a bad day at the end of the week. Be supportive.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Don't beat yourself up over a mistake that you made a while ago, Sagittarius. Learn from the past, and move on. If you stay focused, you'll come across an excellent financial opportunity. A close friend needs a shoulder to cry on. Listen to him or her, and be compassionate.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

When it comes to advancing your career, look before you leap, Capricorn. Things aren't always as good as they seem. Look at all of the pros and cons before getting involved. A loved one offers to help you with a personal problem. Take him or her up on it. You can't handle it alone.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

You're on the go this week, Aquarius. There's a lot to be done, and you're a little overwhelmed. Don't worry; if you stay focused, you'll come through with flying colors. A friend of a friend tells you how he or she really feels about you. Before making a commitment, think about what you want.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

It seems as if everyone wants something from you this week. Don't get upset. Just take some time for yourself. Then, you can deal with everyone else. A budding romance stops before it starts. It's OK — he or she wasn't the right one for you.

Welcome to football country

For years, Lake County teams have been in the shadows, lurking, waiting for their chance to pounce.

While the Joliet Catholics Bloomingtons and Wheaton Warrenville Souths of the world have been winning state titles for the past 20 years, Lake County football teams usually felt lucky just to get in the playoffs, and serve as sacrificial lambs for football powerhouses from the SICA or DuPage Valley Conferences.

But a few years ago, things began to change for the better. First, Stevenson finished second in the state in 2002 in Class 8A. That same year, Warren reached the quarterfinals of Class 8A and Carmel won the Prep Bowl.

Last year, a pair of teams exploded, and put Lake County football on the map for good.

First Libertyville, riding a high-scoring offense, reached the title game in Class 7A before succumbing to Oswego in double-overtime.

Then the aforementioned Corsairs crushed every team in sight, racking up over 4,000 yards of total offense on their way to a perfect 14-0 season and a state title in Class 6A. They became just the second Lake County team in history to win a state football title and the first since Deerfield in 1975.

Those two teams earned the county a measure of respect in the eyes of the rest of Illinois.

And Carmel should once again lead the way this year as it enters its quest for a second straight state title.

Running backs Steve Hironimus and Darren Davis, who combined for over 1,200 yards last season, will shoulder the load in the backfield. Sophomore full-back Jimmy Potempa will also get his share of carries.

Eddie Adamski and Paul Lyons are back to lead an offensive line that was arguably the best in the state last season. Defensive lineman Luis Cuevas and linebacker Sean Murnane are back to lead the front seven, which should be the strength of the defense.

Looming once again for the Corsairs, however, is mighty Joliet Catholic. The two teams will battle in the season finale, this time in Joliet.

Libertyville, however, is in a massive rebuilding mode, with just five returning starters, including just one, Dave Moosman, on offense.

Unlike last year, the Cats will be led this time around by their defense, which should be one of the quickest the school has ever had.

Linebacker Matt Norcia, who racked up eight sacks last season, will lead the defensive unit, along with returning starters Ryne Gavigan, Kevin Burns and Jeff Fontana.

With the bar raised at Libertyville, head coach Randy Kuceyeski fully expects his defense to help carry the way to another possible eight or nine-win season.

Speaking of defense, Grayslake should have one of the best in the area, if not the state. The Rams allowed just over eight points per game last season on their way to a school-record eight wins and the first ever playoff win in school history.

Although the team has just a handful of returning starters on defense, they do have the big one in linebacker and Lakeland Pre-Season Defensive MVP Doug Hanson, who racked up 75.5 tackles, including 10 tackles for loss, four interceptions, four fumble recoveries and a sack last season.

Grayslake should also be much better on offense as Brian Centella, Evan Jones and Brett Miller give the Rams a trio of dynamic runners in the backfield.

Antioch begins its quest for a second straight playoff berth, and will play under the Friday night lights for the first time in school history in the last year before the program splits into two high schools. Nick Nathan and Nate Hughes are back to lead the offense, as the pair combined for over 1,700 yards last season.

Grant is searching for its third post-season appearance in four years as the Bulldogs failed to reach the playoffs in 2003. Eric Lostroscio and Eric Horvath are back to lead Grant on both sides of the ball. Also back are Mike Wicinski, wing-back, and running back Chris Rosado, Brian Piencke at linebacker, Jeff Cukla at defensive back and wide receiver and Toby Temple at defensive back and wing-back.

Johnsburg may have a new coach in Jason Aubrey, but the expectations are the same as the Skyhawks look to reach the playoffs for the third straight season. Leaders include seniors Tyler Kammer, a wide receiver and defensive back; Dan Vesley, a running back and linebacker, Jack Russman and Marty Davis as linemen and quarterback Trevor Bupp, a junior.

Despite winning just a pair of games last season, Mundelein has a good shot at returning to the playoffs. And while football is a team game, if the Mustangs do return to the post-season it will be largely due to returning All-State receiver Jake Gaebler.

Last season Gaebler caught 56 balls for 957 yards and 15 touchdowns. All of those were school records. He also kicked a perfect 28-of-28 extra points.

The Round Lake Panthers figure on using their quickness to their advantage. That, plus experience, could bode well for the Panthers heading into the 2004 season. The Panthers have 13 starters returning, including senior quarterback Mike Hughes.

In its four years as a school Vernon Hills has made the playoffs three times, with the only hiccup coming in 2000, the first year the Cougars fielded a team.

And despite a very tough schedule, the Cougars look to extend their playoff streak to four straight. Running back James Bedolla will lead the way, as he gained almost 1,000 yards last season. Max Troyak, James Randall and Rick Semerau will also be key.

Warren is quickly adding its name among the elite football teams in Lake County. After suffering through a dry spell in the mid and late 90s, the Blue Devils have now qualified for the playoffs five straight seasons. And despite a tough schedule, Warren coach Dave Mohapp fully expects his team to make it six in a row this year.

Mitchell Moore, last year's Lakeland Rookie of the Year, is back to carry the load. Moore gained 405 yards on just 65 carries and scored a team high 13 touchdowns last season.

Wauconda is also on a bit of a streak, albeit a bad one. The Bulldogs have lost 25 straight, dating back to 2001.

However, optimism is high that this Bulldogs squad will be the one to put the 25-game losing skid to bed. Seniors Andrew Baker, Mike Ricco, Brian Farus, Brian Catalano, Josh Patterson and Tyler Haudauf will hopefully lead the Bulldogs to their first win in three seasons.

And last, but certainly not least, Waukegan is looking for its first post-season berth since 2001. Dexter Landry, a top-50 prospect will lead the Bulldogs on both sides of the ball. Joe Lecessi, Adrian Garcia, Oliver Grospe, Francisco Cuate, Joe Labus and Carlos Martin will also be integral players for Waukegan.

So will this year's group of teams match up with last year's historic season? Only time will tell, but one thing's for certain. They will earn respect.

Antioch Sequoia

Antioch's philosophy this season is simple. Run, run again and run some more.

"Our goal offensively is to hang on to the ball," Antioch coach Del Pechauer said. "We play a lot of good offensive teams in our conference, so we need to keep the ball away from them."

Leading the way will be a pair of dynamic running backs in Nick Nathan and Nate Hughes.

Last season, Nathan gained 957 yards on 154 carries and put the ball in the end zone eight times. Hughes gained over 750 yards, giving the Sequoia over 1,700 yards returning in the backfield.

"They both worked hard in the off-season," Pechauer said. "They both added speed and muscle. I'm impressed with their work ethic."

Mark Neuman will also see some action for Antioch in the backfield.

Looking to lead the way for the outstanding backs are three returning offensive linemen, Greg Lyons, Sam Simpson and Nick Godin.

Ben Rosewicz will take the snaps at quarterback. He has the size (6-foot, 4-inches, 220 pounds) and the arm to flourish for Antioch.

"He has good size and a good arm," Pechauer said. "He's just working on his throws. He needs to learn hile Carmel coach Andy Bitto will always remember fondly last year's Class 6A state championship team, he would just as soon have his team wipe it away from their memories.

The main goal, as always, is to qualify for the playoffs.

"The farther away we can get from last year, the better," Bitto said.

Bitto knows this is a completely different team from last year's squad that flat out dominated the opposition. But that's not to say that another state title isn't a goal for this year's squad.

"The bar has been raised for us," Bitto said. "Any time you win state, you want to win it every year. And it's a realistic goal this year."

He also knows that his team won't blow away the opposition like they did last year, as the '03 Corsairs won by an average score of 43-15, including a memorable 54-26 win over Bloomington in the 6A title game.

"We won't be as dominant as we were last year," Bitto said. "We're going to have to win close games occasionally."

But according to Bitto, that isn't necessarily a bad thing.

"I think this season is going to be more fun than last year," Bitto said. "I'm going to have to coach more and make sure our practices are precise. And we need to get the kids in right spots."

One of those players, junior John Solan, has been moved from quarterback, where he started in the state title game after the injury to Mark Venegoni, to defensive back.

However, several players are back from that powerful offensive unit, so Bitto knows exactly what he's getting.

Running backs Steve Hironimus and Darren Davis, who combined for over 1,200 yards last season, will shoulder the load in the backfield. Sophomore fullback Jimmy Potempa will also get his share of carries.

"He's potentially the best full-back we've ever had," Bitto said.

Eddie Adamski and Paul Lyons are back to lead an offensive line that was arguably the best in the state last season.

All of those factors leave Bitto confident in his offense.

"We can score 35-40 points per game if we stay healthy," Bitto said.

Defensive lineman Luis Cuevas and linebacker Sean Murnane are back to lead the front seven, which should be the strength of the defense.

"The pass rush is supposed to help the pass defense and we don't lose to teams that throw," Bitto said.

Bitto hopes those things add up to back-to-back state titles.—

After weeks of practicing against each other, Grant High's team is ready to show its progress.

"You want to keep building on the depth, because in a nine week season, there will be injuries and guys will get dinged up. You do not want to have a drop-off between No. 1 and 2," said Grant coach Mark Barczak.

The optimism could not be missed in Grant coach Mark Barczak's pre-season comments.

"This is the fun part of the season. We've competed in six tournaments. We're great in touch football but it is getting it done between the lines," Barczak said.

A pair of Erics will lead the way as Grant hopes to return to the playoffs after a one-year hiatus.

Eric Horvath, a senior, could be a featured player as both a runner and receiver.

"He can catch and run," Barczak said. "He went to the Northwestern University football camp and they were impressed with him."

"There is a lot of excitement. It should be fun," Horvath said.

The other part of the Eric and Eric show, Eric Lostroschio, is the leading candidate for quarterback. He could also play defense and be on special teams.

Also back are Mike Wicinski, wingback, and running back Chris Rosado, Brian Piencke at linebacker, Jeff Cukla at defensive back and wide receiver and Toby Temple at defensive back and wingback.

"We will definitely adjust our strategy to meet our personnel," Barczak said.

Barczak is a veteran mentor at Grant, and welcomes GCHS grad Aaron Behm as sophomore coach

Grant, 4-5 last year, looks to regain its playoff form it had for two straight years. The Bulldogs open the season Aug. 27 against its new athletic director Perry Wilhelm's long-time school, Mundelein. Grant hosts Johnsbury Sept. 3 before division play begins.

"We have a lot of work to do," Barczak said as his team prepares for the season.

But if the work gets done, look for the Bulldogs to make yet another trip to the post-season.—Steve Peterson

Hanson's back to lead Rams

Taking a page out of the Baltimore Ravens play book a year ago, Grayslake rode a punishing defense on its way to a school-record eight wins and the first playoff win in school history.

The Rams allowed a scant eight points per game on their way to an 8-3 season and a 6-2 mark in the tough Fox Valley Conference.

"Defense first is always our philosophy," Andriola said. "It wins games."

Although the Rams lost several players from last year's defensive unit, the leader of that defense, linebacker Doug Hanson, is back and looking for more.

Hanson finished last season with 75.5 tackles, including 10 tackles for loss, and also had four interceptions, 4 fumble recoveries and a sack and was named Lakeland's Co-Defensive Player of the Year, along with now graduated Carmel defensive back Pat Kimener.

"We're expecting big things from Doug," Andriola said. "He's a winner; he plays like I want everyone to play. He does his best all the time and he's not a 'me' person."

The Rams also expect big things from Brian Centella, both offensively and defensively. Centella gained over 50 yards rushing and ran for several scores last year, in addition to picking off several passes in the defensive backfield.

The backfield will also include Brett Miller and sophomore quarterback Evan Jones.

"We're a ball-control offense and our backs could be the best we've ever had," Andriola said. "We may even throw the ball a bit more, but we don't like to have to throw the ball."

Brian Campbell and Steve Beverley also return with three years of varsity experience under their belts, but Andriola knows this is a different team.

"We were a veteran team last year and we won't be this year," Andriola said. "We're going to start five or six sophomores. But we've gotten better throughout the summer. We're starting to get the attitude back."

As always, Andriola is hoping for a return trip to the playoffs, something Grayslake has never accomplished. And several things will have to happen if the Rams are to achieve that goal.

"We have to limit our mistakes and not beat ourselves," Andriola said. "Our defense gives people problems so we have to move the ball and put some points on the board."—Rob Backus he fact that Johnsbury football coach Jason Aubrey and his staff worked with their players over the summer is not new.

But Aubrey had a tougher challenge then most, commuting from south suburban Lockport. Aubrey is in his rookie season as JHS head coach and is loving it so far.

"The transition has been great, smooth one for my family. We found a home three minutes away from school. This summer I drove from Lockport or stayed over with family in Woodstock," Aubrey said.

Aubrey, 30, was offensive coordinator at Lemont High School the past two seasons. Lemont was 4-5 last year after a 4-1 start. The conference included powerhouse teams Oswego and two Plainfield schools.

"Every year, you have to keep up with the sport because it changes so fast. I had some great learning years at Lamont, with coach John Coneset," Aubrey said.

He comes to the Skyhawks, who were 7-3 and a playoff team last year under Chad Hetlet, who succeeded Bob Bradshaw. The Johnsbury squad has had an eight-win and a seven-win season its last two years.

Johnsbury is preparing for the season opener Aug. 27 at Rich East in Park Forest. Johnsbury is at Grant Sept. 3 before Big Northern Red division play starts.

Kammer, a wide receiver and defensive back; Dan Vesley, a running back and linebacker at 5-foot, 11-inches, 195 pounds; Jack Russman, and Marty Davis as linemen, 6-4, 290 and 6-0, 220, respectively and quarterback Trevor Bupp, a junior. "Trevor can throw the ball all over the field," Aubrey said.

The offense plans to use a lot of one-back looks. The defense could go to a four or five-man front, depending on what the other team's plan is.

Aubrey played his prep football at Seneca High, which won the state Class 2A title in 1990, two years before Richmond-Burton won its title. He then played for a junior college, Grand Valley Community College, before going onto Illinois State University. A leg injury sidelined his playing days his sophomore year at the JUCO.

His coaching staff includes former JHS players Kyle Neiss and Josh Janik. Also on the staff are Doug Herrod as defensive coordinator.

"We're looking forward to a great season. We have players who work hard, but we know it takes 11 guys on the football team to be successful," Aubrey said.

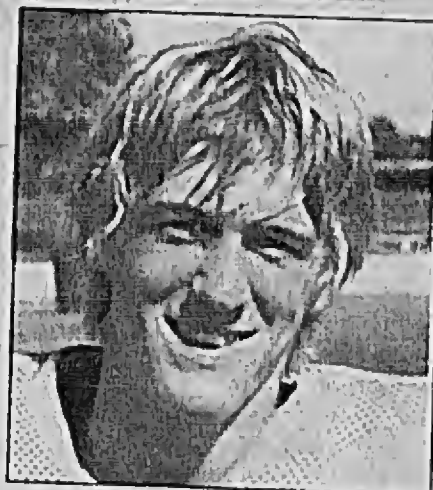

While new to the area and rivalries such as those with Richmond-Burton and Harvard, Aubrey pledges an all-out effort this fall.—Steve Peterson

Although Libertyville has traditionally been a strong football program, as evidenced by seven straight playoff appearances, last year the Cats took it to another level, amassing a school-record 13 wins and finishing second in the state in Class 7A.

"By us getting down-state last year, expectations have really raised for us," Libertyville coach Randy Kuceyeski said.

This year's team has a special motivation after last year's loss to Oswego in the title game.

"That was the first game that our juniors lost last year since they were in sixth grade," Kuceyeski said. "So they're extra motivated because they don't want to lose again."

And despite losing 17 starters from last year's team, the Cats are looking to get right back to where they were last season.

"Our goals never change," Kuceyeski said. "We have a lot of inexperience, but eight or nine wins is definitely possible."

Nowhere is the inexperience more evident than on the offensive unit. Just one starter, lineman Dave Moosman, one of the famous "Mules" that was the heart and soul of the team last season, is back.

"We have mules, but no one knows who they are," Kuceyeski said.

Linemen Moosman, Eric Pickell, Kyle Rhoades, Pat Engle, Matt Corlin and Jack Danilkowicz and tight ends Greg Larsen and Carson Swan will all try to open holes for running backs Jeff Fontana, Kyle Nader and Tom Sitz, as well as protect quarterback Brett Lancaster.

But Kuceyeski thinks that this year's unit can do the job. And he has confidence in his offense.

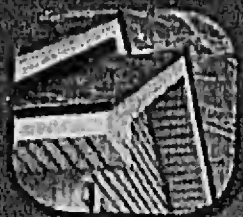

"Our backs are a little different from last year," Kuceyeski said. "They don't have as much size, but they're a little quicker and they all can catch. And Brett has good speed and a good arm at quarterback. He plays it like a linebacker. He likes to hit and he won't shy away from contact."

Speaking of linebackers, Libertyville has a good one in Matt

Norcia, who racked up eight sacks last season. Norcia, Ryne Gavigan, Kevin Burns and Jeff Fontana are all returning defensive starters.

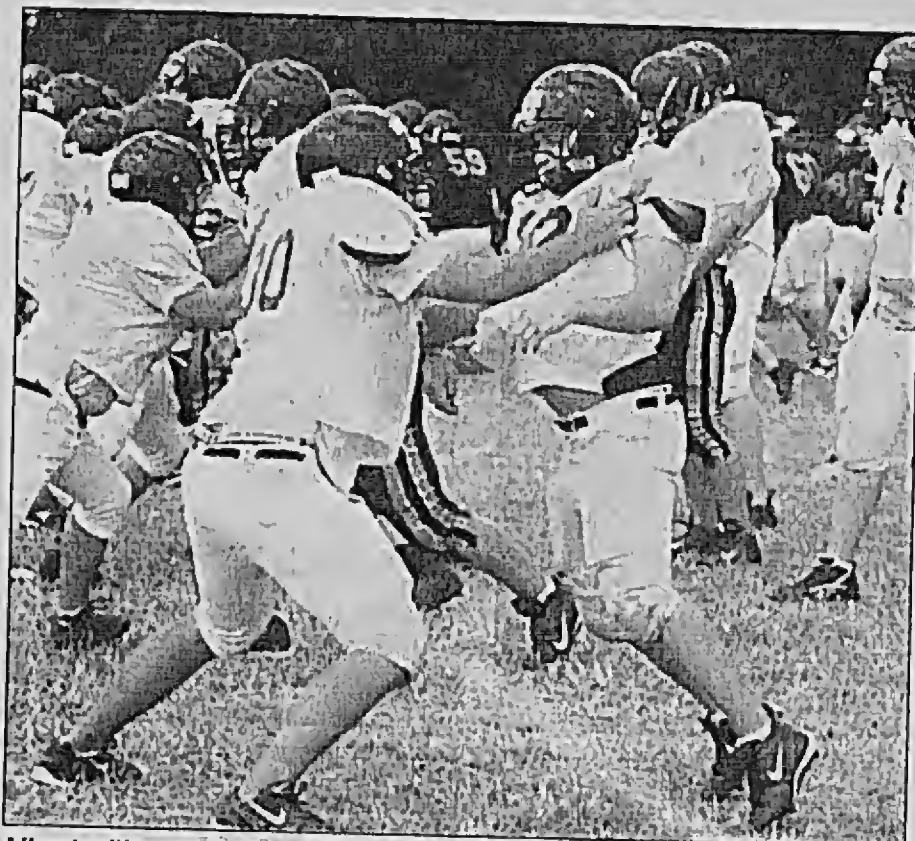

Unlike last season, where the defense took half the season to catch up with the offense, the D will lead the way in the early going for the Cats.

"Our defense will have to carry us the first few games until our offense can establish our identity," Kuceyeski said. "Our defense is one of the quickest we've had in a while. We're not overly big, but we have a lot of speed."

Whether the improved defense and a potentially strong offense adds up to another NSC Lake title remains to be seen.

"We'll find out starting next week," Kuceyeski said.—Rob Backus

Mustangs have a high-octane offense

Who ever said that size matters? While Mundelein receiver Jake Gaebler may not have the prototypical 6-foot, 2-inch, 220 pound frame, what he does have is the ability to get open and catch the ball, a lot.

Last season Gaebler caught 56 balls for 957 yards and 15 touchdowns. All of those were school records. He also kicked a perfect 28-of-28 extra points.

All of those numbers earned Gaebler a spot on the Class 7A All-State team.

So now new head coach Dave Whitson is going to make every effort to get Gaebler the ball as often as possible.

"He's a great receiver so we have to get him the ball," Whitson said. "He has great separation off the line, so he knows how to get open. And if teams try to bump him at the line, we'll just move him around. When you have a player as good as Jake that works as hard as he does, it would be silly not to get him the ball."

Mundelein conducts a drill with blocking pads in a practice last week.

Warren Arnold will be the man trying to get Gaebler the ball, as he is penciled in as starting quarterback.

Mundelein should also have some capable backs in Steve Tonsul and Wade Leppert. Ian Sanchez will line up opposite Gaebler at receiver, and should often be the benefit of single coverage as teams will try to double and triple-team Gaebler as often as possible.

"Jake's going to open pockets for us to get the ball to other people," Whitson said.

On defense, Mundelein has a pair of solid linebackers in Matt Tisch and David Adams and a good pair of bookends on the defensive line in Edgar Mendoza and Jason Casper.

The Mustangs' goal on defense is simple.

"On defense we have to bend but not break," Whitson said. "Teams are going to have to run a lot of plays to get the ball in the end zone. We want to make them work for every yard."

Against offensive powerhouses like Warren, Libertyville and Stevenson, that will be a tough task. But Whitson is confident in his team's abilities.

"We want to get better every day and work hard," Whitson said. "If we can to that, things will take care of themselves." —Rob Backus hey say that you can't teach speed, but any coach would love his team to have it.

The Round Lake Panthers figure on using their quickness to their advantage. That, plus experience, could bode well for the Panthers heading into the 2004 season.

"We have overall team speed, although we are not big. Also, we have 13 starters back from last year," said Round Lake coach Kevin Dempsey.

Quarterback Mike Hughes, a 5-11, 180 pound senior, leads the returnees.

Round Lake did suffer a key loss when Scott Pocasangre injured his knee and will be lost for the year. He may be able to be back for wrestling season this winter.

"I really like our work ethic. We have two or three players at each position," Dempsey said.

Senior leadership, in addition to Hughes, could come from Teddy Silvetti, Cesar Gomez, Visha Patel, John Aldana, Mario Blanquel, Jake Powell, J.D. Russell, Darold Dantzler, Scott Scrivner, Bulmaro Sanchez, C.J.

Hultman, Ryan Nelson, Anthony Beaudoin and Neal Fortune.

Juniors on the 40-member squad are also expected to contribute. They include: James Nowell, James Schwarz, Cesar Moore, Alex Lopez, Lukas Caseras, Josh Terrell, Calvin Torres, Frank Koster, Danny Valadez, Fred Ortega, Kyle Herdman, Nate Kelly, Alfred Tovar, Paul Sipps, Steve Lehouckey, Ivan Moreno, Anthony Jones, Dedan Faul, David Morris and Mike Wilson.

"I'm pleased with the level of commitment," Dempsey said.

Round Lake is excited to welcome back former players now serving as assistant coaches. They are Walt Averganza, Bob Swanson (now playing semi-pro for the Kane County Eagles) and Cristo Garza.

They join the staff of assistants Howard Conkling, Doug Moss, John Jobst, Scott Pack and Doug Barnshaw.

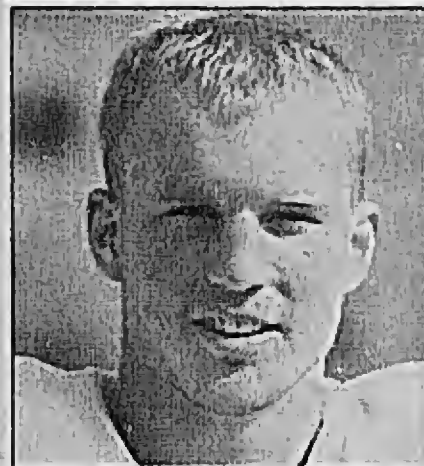

"It is great because they have been through the wars," Dempsey said.

Round Lake was 2-7 last year, winning the season opener against Westosha 7-6 and beating Wauconda 20-12. But as Mike Ditka said, winners do not live in the past.

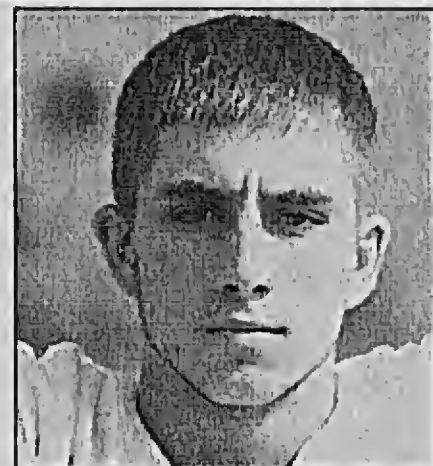

Round Lake opens the season Aug. 27 by hosting Westosha. A new foe, Maine East, provides the second non-conference foe on Sept. 3.

Dempsey said the NSC Prairie should be tough again this year, starting with Wauconda Sept. 25. The crossover games are against Lake Forest and Mundelein.—Steve Peterson

BALANCED ATTACK

In its four years as a school Vernon Hills has made the playoffs three times, with the only hiccup coming in 2000; the first year the Cougars fielded a team. Their reward? A 2004 schedule that head coach

Tony Monken said is the hardest the team has ever seen.

In addition to competing in a tough North Suburban Prairie Conference, the team will also play its two crossover games against North Suburban Lake powerhouses Stevenson and Libertyville.

"There's not an easy game on the schedule. Six of the nine teams were in the playoffs last year," Monken said. "If we stay healthy we'll be able to compete with everyone on the schedule."

Also helping the Cougars compete is their combination of size and speed the likes of which the team has never had.

In the past the team has been able to compete with guys with players who were quick, and could change a game with their speed. This year, seniors like 6-foot, 3-inch, 235-pound Max Troyak and 6-foot, 5-inch, 250 pound James Randall will add size to both sides of the ball.

On the offense Troyak, a tackle and Randall, a guard, will line up on the right side of the ball.

"By putting these guys together we are forcing people to adjust to us, rather than us adjust to them" Monken said.

But the team isn't without its share of speed on the offensive unit. The entire offensive line can run just as fast as most tight ends in the conference, Monken said.

And they'll need to quick to open up holes in the Cougars' option offense with senior tailback James Bedolla. Bedolla, a returning starter with 4.5 40 speed rushed for 989 yards in 10 games last season.

Monken hopes to balance Bedolla's running with quarterback Rick Semerau's passing. Semerau is not as pure a passer as they have had in recent years, but he should be able to help the team to a 3,000-yard year, Monken said.

"We're a more balanced run/pass group this year than we have been," Monken said.

Defensively, Monken said his team is also expected to do well. DBs Troyak, and Rajee Harris along with LB Vince DeFrancesco are the only returning starters, but like the offense the defensive unit combines size and speed better than years past.

"Against the bigger schools it helps to have (size). It's hard to be one dimensional and compete," Monken said. "You need to have both elements."—Nicholas Alajakis

It's always been said that speed kills. And Warren is hoping that proves true for the opposition as the Blue Devils have speed, and lots of it.

Unlike last year's team, which used its bulk to pound the opposition on its way to a 5-4 regular season, speed is the name of the game for Warren this year.

"Speed should be an asset for us on both sides of the ball," Warren coach Dave Mohapp said.

"We're a much faster football team this year."

Nowhere is the Devils' speed more evident than in the backfield, where Mitchell Moore, last year's Lakeland Rookie of the Year, is back to carry the load. Moore gained 405 yards on just 65 carries and scored a team high 13 touchdowns last season.

"Mitchell has great size and speed for a running back," Mohapp said.

Quinton Scott, Dan Mirabella, Marvin Bembry and Willie Brooks will also see action in the backfield, and all of them can run.

Marcus Lewis also gives the team speed at receiver and AJ Kegg and Alex Morton will compete for time at the other wide receiver position.

Charged with getting the ball to Warren's speedy receivers is quarterback Garren Zerfass, who is back for another season behind center for the Devils.

"Garren as always impressed me with his accuracy, but now his arm has gotten stronger," Mohapp said. "Plus he's turning into a leader. He knows what has to get done and inspires his teammates. I'm looking for him to have a good year."

Speed is also present on the defensive line, in ends Kevin Pollard and Paul Thomas.

"Kevin is relentless and plays hard; his motor is always running," Mohapp said. "And Paul is a strong defensive end and he can really run."

One key leader on defense will be linebacker Brandon McKinney, someone Mohapp is also expecting big things from this season.

"He's a Mike Singletary type of player; he's just a student of the game," Mohapp said. "He's always studying film and technique to try and get better."

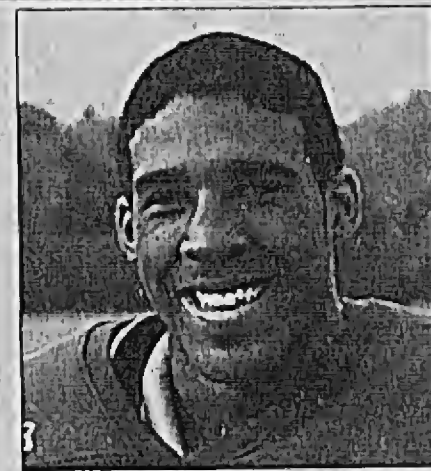

It's those things that give Mohapp confidence going into the season.

"The kids want to be better and they're working hard at it, especially in the off-season," Mohapp said. "They showed all the coaches that they want to be a better football team."—Rob Backus

It may seem like a long time before your child or grandchild goes to college, but the time to start saving – unless you're sure a sports scholarship is in the offing – is now. Scott caught a Hoy pass from Andrew Baker in the flat, out-raced defenders, heading to the goal line. Yes, it was only the first day of practices with pads, but the play and others like it showed the strength of Wauconda's football team: quickness.

"We have the best skill positions that we have had and have some tremendous speed. We have guys who can run the 40 in 4.4 or 4.5," said third-year coach Glen Kozlowski.

Optimism is high that this

Bulldogs squad will be the one to put the 25-game losing skid as history. WHS's closest game last year was a 20-12 loss to Round Lake on the day the Cubs won the NL Central. Wauconda last won on the second week of the 2001 season, a 28-21 win over Marengo.

"Baker is a tremendous leader," Kozlowski said of his senior QB.

"Jammin' On Main" Street Dance to Benefit Wauconda/Island Lake Food Pantry

The fifth Annual "Jammin' on Main" Street Dance will be held Labor Day weekend, Saturday, September 4 from 6pm until midnight. This is a popular evening with an estimated crowd of over 3000 attending the free event. Two bands, "Confinement" and "Kevin Purcell and the Nightburners", will provide the live music. One band will set up at each end of Main Street and play alternate sets. Local vendors, including Burrito Express, Dairy Queen, Duke's Grill, JJ Twig's, Rusty's Ribs, and 3 Amigos, will line Main Street providing food and drinks along with Main Street businesses such as the new Lakeside Inn. Numerous non-profit organizations will also be present including the Lions Club who will be selling last minute tickets before drawing the long awaited winning raffle ticket for the Harley Davidson motorcycle.

The event is sponsored by the Wauconda Chamber and hosted by the Village of Wauconda as a fundraiser for the Wauconda/Island Lake Food Pantry. All residents are asked to bring non-perishable food donations to the Citizens Activity Center the night of the dance. The donations will be displayed on the front steps all evening with hopes of overflowing the collection carts. To encourage donations, the Chamber will hold a raffle for prizes including a one-week stay at a luxury condominium in Cancun, donated by Chamber member Main Street Café. Anyone who brings a bag of groceries for the Food Pantry will receive a free raffle ticket. Additional raffle tickets will be for sale. Food Pantry volunteers will also hold a 50/50 cash raffle.

Area businesses are asked to conduct a food drive with their employees and business associates. Business donations will be collected on Friday, September 3. If you would like to be a sponsor, vendor, have a cash or food donation, or an item to donate for the raffle, please contact the Chamber office at 847/526-5580.

Include linebacker Mike Ricco, Brian Farus, running back Brian Catalano, wide receiver Josh Patterson and Tyler Haudauf. Sophomore Nick Andeletti, a transfer from Elk Grove, could join Hoy as a tenth-grader to watch.

Kozlowski gave the Bulldogs a team unity camp at Trinity University, including a trip to Halas Hall, home of his former team, the Chicago Bears.

"We came together as a team," Koz said.

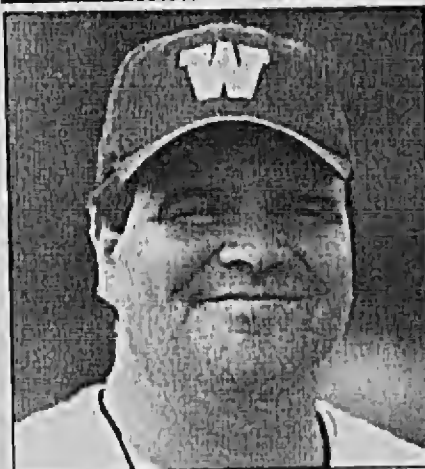

While the strength may be in the skill positions' speed, the Bulldogs' question marks include the line play.

The time is counting down to kickoff at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 27 when Wauconda hosts Harvard. Marengo is next on the road, Sept. 3.

Kozlowski, who co-hosts a weekend sport show on WGN radio, hopes Wauconda football fans will be taking a good look at supporting the 40-man Bulldogs roster this fall and this talk about the high school team that broke "the streak," which includes some lopsided losses.

He knows, though, that it will be a challenge in the NSC Prairie and with cross over games against Mundelein and Lake Forest.—Steve Peterson

* denotes conference game

Playing against offensive powerhouses like Maine South, Waukegan often came up on the short end of shootouts, finishing with a 3-6 record, including a 1-4 mark in the tough Central Suburban South conference.

So the Bulldogs are looking to get back to their tradition of being a defensive-oriented team.

"Traditionally, Waukegan has been a very good defensive team," said coach John Neff, who is in his 25th season as head coach of the Bulldogs. "But we haven't played very good 'D' the last few years. We scored a lot of points last year, but we also gave up a lot."

Two players will look to lead the Bulldogs on defense. A pair of three-year starters, linebacker Joe Lecessi and defensive back Dexter Landry, will look to be the lynchpins in a defense that allowed 287 points last year, almost 32 per game.

Linebackers Joe Labus and Carlos Martin also return with varsity experience.

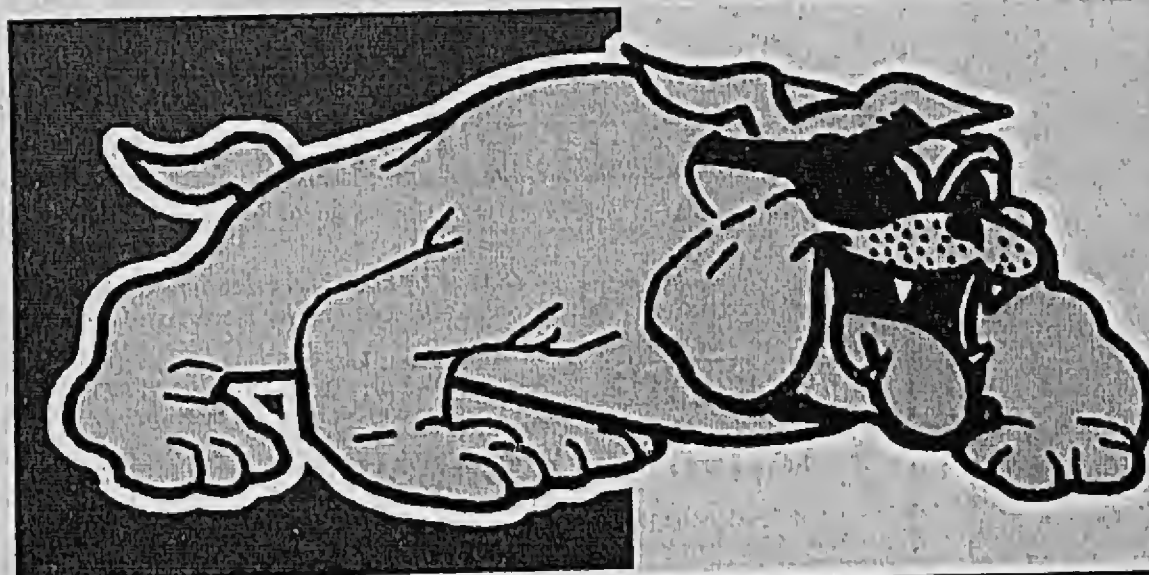

"We have a lot of good linebackers and the defensive backfield should be okay with Landry back there," Neff said.

But no matter how good the linebackers and defensive backs are, if the D-line can't provide some pressure on opposing quarterbacks Waukegan will get picked apart. "We need some people on the defensive line to step up," Neff said.

Fortunately, the Bulldogs will also be able to air it out early and often.

prospects in the state, has a 6-foot, 4-inch frame that is inviting to quarterbacks, as he caught 34 balls for 484 yards and 5 TDs last season.

Eric Krueger will be charged with getting the ball to his speedy receivers, but he may miss the beginning of the season with a broken collarbone.

The real question mark for the Bulldogs on offense is the backfield as Chris Huely, who gained over 1,000 yards last year, has graduated.

So Waukegan will rely on Martin and sophomore Vernon Smith to carry the load, with Labus providing the blocks out of the backfield.

The key to any good running game, though, is the offensive line. And Waukegan should have a good one.

Lecessi, Adrian Garcia, Oliver Grospe and Francisco Cuate all started on the line last season.

So will a potentially explosive offense and what should be an improved defense translate in to a winning season for the Bulldogs? Only time will tell, but Neff has confidence in his team.

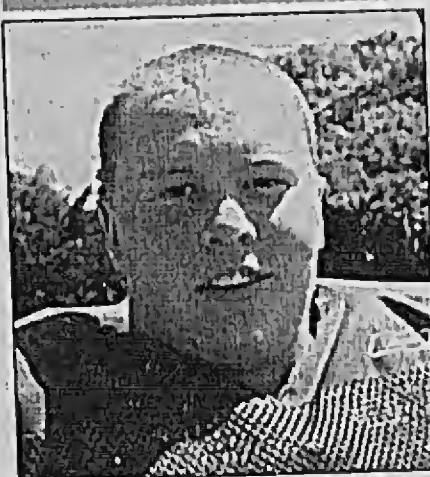

"We play in one of the toughest conferences in the Chicagoland area," Neff said. "But we have some good players returning. If we can stay healthy and win the close games, we can be a good football team." —Rob Backus
